13 Jap Planes Fall to Allies In South Seas

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia (CP) — Ten Japanese planes today were officially reported destroyed and three more damaged as the Allied air force exchanged blows with the enemy over New Guinea and the neighboring Louisiade Archipelago.

No Allied plane losses were mentioned in communiques from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters detailing the action.

Nine Japanese planes listed as destroyed were accounted for by Allied raiders in three swift assaults Saturday on the airdrome at Lae, on the northeastern coast of New Guinea, headquarters said. Bombs unloaded by the raiders smashed eight enemy bombers on the ground and a Zero fighter was reported shot down in flames.

SHIPS TO FIGHT?

(Speculation on the possibility of a new Coral Sea battle was stirred by Axis reports of Japanese and Allied naval activity in adjacent waters. The Tokyo radio said Sunday that Japanese planes had spotted strong United States naval forces, consisting of the 19,000-ton aircraft carrier Hornet and Enterprise, escorted by cruisers and destroyers, moving westward about 500 miles east of the Solomon Islands. The squadron changed course abruptly after being sighted, Tokyo said.

(An earlier report, relayed from Shanghai and broadcast by the German-controlled Paris radio, said a powerful Japanese fleet was sailing toward Australia.)

A Japanese plane was shot down Sunday by Allied fighters which repulsed a formation of nine Zeros which attempted to raid Port Moresby on the southern New Guinea coast, a communique said.

19 Survivors Land

WILLEMSTAD, Netherlands West Indies (AP) — Nineteen survivors of a U.S. freighter were brought here today and reported an Axis submarine, after sinking their ship Saturday night near the island of Bonaire, machine-gunned the crew in lifeboats.

New Frog Champion

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP) — Leaping 13 feet, 3 inches, to outdistance 150 competitors, Sugar, a frog entered by Beverly Fisher of Stockton, Calif., won the 15th annual Mark Twain jumping frog jubilee here.

Chinese Beat Off Japs In Attack Up Burma Road

CHUNGKING (AP) — The western bank of the Salween River northwest of Lungling in Yunnan province has been cleared of Japanese, a Chinese communique said today, indicating an enemy threat to the important Burma Road city of Paoshan had been removed.

The Chinese were reported advancing in this region, thrusting back the Japanese who had driven to the Salween along the Burma Road.

Another Japanese force advancing northward between the Salween and Mekong Rivers in the eastern Shan states of Burma, some 250 miles south of the Yunnan battlefields, was said to have renewed its attacks after twice being repulsed by the Chinese. This fighting was south-east of Kentung, capital of one of the Shan states.

In the Yunnan fighting, Chinese reinforcements were reported pouring across the Salween to smash at Japanese positions around Lungling and Tengyueh.

NEARING ASSAM

British dispatches relayed here indicated the British forces at the western side of Burma were withdrawing slowly in the Chindwin River valley, and the main body was said to be within 20 miles of the eastern Indian province of Assam.

Fresh troops of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's Indian command were said to be replacing the tired units of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander's forces as they streamed across the rugged, mountainous frontier.

TORPEDOED—LAST THING WE EXPECTED—Survivors of the two ship torpedoings in the first enemy U-boat penetration of the St. Lawrence River arrive in Montreal. Admitting enemy action was "the last thing we expected," survivors relate no gunners were on watch. Here are a few of the 31 arrivals en route to the Allied Merchant Seamen's Club.

Canadians, R.A.F. Pound Nazi Cruiser

Torpedo Planes Hit Prinz Eugen

LONDON (CP) — British and Canadian airmen caught up with the German heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen off Norway Sunday night and Beaufort torpedo planes scored two "definite" hits and one "probable" hit on the German warship which has been playing hide and seek with British spot-ter for more than three months.

The Prinz Eugen, which escaped from Brest in March with the battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, apparently was gravely damaged in the running fight off Lister, on the southwest coast of Norway, the Air Ministry said.

One attack pilot said he saw a "great pillar of black, dirty smoke" rise from the superstructure of the Prinz Eugen after his torpedo had hit home. Two large explosions 15 seconds apart were heard.

Another pilot said he saw a sheet of flame spring from the cruiser after he had attacked. He "got a glimpse of other torpedoes running well toward the ship," the ministry added.

Blenheim and Hudson bombers also attacked the ship with explosives and escorting Beaufighters raked the four escorting destroyers with machine gun fire.

The Prinz Eugen, it was stated, had been seen in exercises in Trondheim fjord Saturday. "She apparently was trying to slip back to a German port from her refuge at Trondheim, where she had been hiding up after being damaged by a British submarine."

DESTROYERS RAKED

The Air Ministry reported the Prinz Eugen was escorted by four destroyers and a swarm of German fighter planes, which apparently tried desperately to ward off the attack.

The British and Canadian planes strafed the decks of the destroyers with cannon fire and shot down five Nazi ME109 fighters, the ministry said. British losses totaled nine planes.

The size of the attacking aerial force was indicated by the disclosure it included Beaufort torpedo-carrying planes, Hudson bombers, Blenheim bombers and Beaufighters. R.C.A.F. headquarters said Canadians participating flew Blenheims and Beauforts.

Final Bulletins

Test Blackout For B.C. Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Pacific coast defence area west of the Cascades as far north as Prince Rupert and including Vancouver Island, will have a blackout within the next few days, A.R.P. officials announced today. The date will be announced some hours in advance, but the exact hour will not be known until the "precaution" warning is sounded.

Call Up Reserves

RIO DE JANEIRO (CP) — President Getulio Vargas authorized Gen. Enrico Gaspar Dutra, Brazil's War Minister, today to call up all reserve army officers for active duty.

Shareholders Sue

VANCOUVER (CP) — Grull-Whiskne Gold Mines Ltd. and five directors are named defendants in an action started in the B.C. Supreme Court by William Clarence Vernon for himself and other shareholders of the company.

Vernon asks the court to declare invalid a resolution passed at the company's annual meeting last Dec. 30 authorizing a $5 fee to directors for every meeting they attend.

Wildwood Flier Missing

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Daubner of nearby Wildwood said today they had received a cable from the Air Ministry reporting their son, Flt-Sgt. William Daubner, missing after air operations May 15. The young man was with the R.C.A.F. and went overseas about a year ago. A brother, Bud Daubner, is in training with the R.C.A.F. in Canada.

Close 51 Cafes

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP) — A German dispatch from Rome said today that "in continuation of energetic action taken by the Italian police against restaurants which infringe the ordinance concerning use of bread ration coupons, 51 more establishments in Rome were closed today for an indefinite period."

McNaughton Speech To Aid Red Cross

TORONTO (CP) — The voice of Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of Canada's army overseas, will be heard in a recorded speech in an appeal on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross over a CBC network Wednesday from 6 p.m. to 6:03 p.m., P.D.T. The Canadian Red Cross currently is appealing for $9,000,000.

Old-fashioned Gun Beats New Garand

PORTSMOUTH (CP) — United States Marines met the British marines in a shooting match here Sunday, but the situation decidedly was not well in hand for the Americans, who were beaten 1,026 to 1,126. Just to rub it in, the British marksmen used old-fashioned Lee-Enfield rifles and whipped the Americans using semiautomatic Garands in a rapid-fire contest.

12,000 Nazis Killed As Reds Hit Kharkov

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW (AP) — With the Red army closing in steadily on vital Kharkov, battlefield dispatches reported today that the Germans were hurling flying wedges of tanks and trailer-carried troops into death traps in the Russian lines in a desperate attempt to break up the offensive now on its seventh day.

Pravda reported that these Nazi counterattacks on wheels and treads, as well as mass German parachute landings of as many as 120 troops at a time, had failed to check the impetus of the Russian thrust.

Nazi Dead, Wreckage Litter Battlefield

Already that drive has gained 12 to 37 miles over blood-stained battlefields littered with the bodies of 12,000 German dead and the wreckage of war materials hard to replace, the Russians announced officially.

(British military sources said Marshal Timoshenko's armies were advancing on a 100-mile front extending in an arc from Volchansk, 30 miles northwest of Kharkov, to Krasnograd, 60 miles southwest of Kharkov. These sources said that, although stiffened German resistance undoubtedly had slowed the Russian push in some places, it had been stopped nowhere.)

Pravda reported the Germans were using—and losing—tanks in constantly increasing numbers in an attempt to save Kharkov and safeguard the vulnerable southern flank.

The Communist Party organ said that in a single attack 150 tanks pulling armored trailers loaded with troops were hurled against Russian lines in an attempt to break through to a besieged Nazi position.

When the first attack was stopped, the Germans followed up with 15 others during the same day, Pravda said. It reported that 18 tanks were destroyed in the first clash and 43 in the others, and said that where wedges were driven into the Russian lines they were smashed by intense anti-tank fire.

Reporting attempts to land troops from the air in back of the Russian line, Pravda said that swarms of 120, 50 and 30 paratroopers had been dropped in recent operations but that two of these groups were wiped out a man before even reaching the ground.

The communique did not mention the situation on the Crimean front to the south, but the regular communique issued last night by the Soviet Information Bureau declared fighting still was raging near the city of Kerch, which the Germans said Saturday they had captured.

Krasnograd is about 60 miles southwest of Kharkov and midway between that city and the Dnieper River a British military expert said today commenting on Marshal Timoshenko's drive.

Chuguev, where the Russians also are attacking, is approximately 20 miles east and slightly south of Kharkov and Volchansk is about 30 miles northeast of the latter city.

He said the Germans now are in virtually complete possession of the Kerch Peninsula in the Crimea, but said Russian parties still are holding isolated positions. He described German casualties in the Kerch offensive as severe.

BAN DESTRUCTION OF ANY RUBBER

OTTAWA (CP) — Scope of the regulation making it an offence to destroy tires has been broadened to include all scrap rubber, it was announced today by the Department of Munitions and Supply.

The order now provides no person shall burn, cut or destroy "any tire or tube of a passenger car, truck, motorcycle, bicycle, rubber boots, hose, scrap from repairing or from making repair materials, buffing scrap from preparing for retreading, retread scrap, fan belt, radiator hose," or other used or discarded rubber products or rubber scrap.

An authorized "re dealer must make the best possible use of tires and tubes which can be made fit for further use on the road, must resell those which are in good condition, must repair and resell those which can be made safe for operation, but is allowed to sell to another authorized dealer for repair and re-sale a tire which he does not want to repair himself.

All tires or tubes which cannot be sold, or repaired for sale, to a vehicle owner, must be disposed of to a salvage collector such as a

Axis Tanks Routed

CAIRO (AP) — In a new flurry of action on the long stable Libyan front, the British Middle East command reported today that small groups of Axis tanks and cars were dispersed in the south Sunday and that "brisk patrol activity continues on other sectors."

Bomb Disposer Admits Money Charge

LONDON (CP) — Capt. Robert Davies, awarded the George Cross in 1940 for removing a time bomb from St. Paul's Cathedral, pleaded guilty before a court-martial today on a charge of having improperly received £500 ($2,225) from Messrs. Harrington and Co. Ltd. in October, 1940.

He pleaded not guilty to 10 other charges relating to alleged offences while commanding a bomb-disposal squad in London, including having improperly used the services of soldiers to construct a civil air raid shelter for which he received money.

Davies lived for several years in St. Catharines, Ont.

BUTTER SHORTAGE PREDICTED

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Dairy Council of Canada, in a brief presented today to Food Administrator Gordon Taggart, said a serious shortage of butter is threatened in Canada before the end of this year unless butter prices are brought into a more "balanced relationship" with prices of other dairy products.

The situation could be righted by an increase of 5 cents a pound for butterfat in the price now being received by the dairy farmer producing milk for butter, the brief said. Whether this should be in the form of a direct subsidy to the cream producer or an increase in the retail price of butter is a matter on which the council said it is not prepared to offer an opinion.

The council's brief, as presented by A. C. Fraser of Ottawa, secretary, said not less than 52 per cent of all milk produced in Canada is marketed in the form of butter and that "a continuation of the present trends of production threaten not only embarrassment to the butter industry but possible disaster in some districts and the complete dislocation of one of Canada's oldest and most important branches of the dairy industry."

Plenty of Pilots and Bases

China to Bomb Japan When Planes Arrive

OTTAWA (CP) — China is all set to bomb Japanese cities and industries as soon as it can get the necessary planes, Maj. Gen. T. H. Shen, commanding general of Chinese air forces in the United States, told reporters here today.

"We have provided the bases; the only thing we need is the planes," he said.

He declined to say where the bases are, but went so far as to assure a gathering of 35 Canadian and American newspaper correspondents and radio commentators that they are "within modern bomber range of Japan."

PLENTY OF PILOTS

The general, who heads the Chinese air training operations in the United States, came here to represent his country at the Ottawa Air Training Conference, which opened today. He said there are many trained pilots in China, but they are idle because of lack of planes, but he hopes planes can be obtained soon.

Air training had been carried on in China since the start of the war with Japan and was still carried on but it was necessary to send Chinese to the United States for training because of lack of equipment in China. Some aircraft were manufactured there, but a handicap was lack of materials.

"Do you think you will be able to keep on fighting now that the Burma Road is closed?" Gen. Shen was asked.

"Sure we can," he said. "We have been fighting for five years."

He said he had not actually flown against the Japanese, but had commanded Chinese air forces in action.

GET BIG BAGS

"On one occasion when the Japanese sent bombers from Formosa against Nanking without fighter protection the Chinese shot down all the attacking planes. On another, in north-western China, they shot down 20 Japanese two-engine bombers."

China will never make a separate peace with Japan, he said. His country had labored under transportation difficulties since the beginning and these difficulties were greater now than ever before, but there would be no stopping before victory. Japan could not stand a long war, the general said. Its industries and resources were not great enough. The losses it had suffered in the air were serious because the Japanese aircraft industry was not large.

Maritimes Protest Cut In Gas Ration

HALIFAX (CP) — Nova Scotians refuse to accept diminished gasoline rations while all Canada outside the Maritime provinces continues with unchanged rationing, Premier A. S. MacMillan declared in a telegram of protest to Munitions Minister Howe.

(The basis of gasoline rationing tickets in the Maritimes was reduced Friday from five to two gallons because of a shortage in this area. The rest of the Dominion remained on a five-gallon basis.)

"We in Nova Scotia will accept any conditions found necessary if the same regulations are general throughout Canada, but refuse to accept present order while Maritime provinces are discriminated against," the premier said in his telegram.

Mr. MacMillan said the action was resented in the Maritimes. In the first place, his message said, "reasonable notice" of at least 24 hours should have been given. Many persons had been "hundreds of miles away from their homes and could not secure sufficient to enable their return."

READY TO CO-OPERATE

"We in Nova Scotia, I think, have demonstrated our willingness to co-operate in the war effort, but cannot accept arbitrary discrimination."

With a refinery in Halifax, he told Mr. Howe, gasoline always has been available in the Maritimes at the lowest possible price. Gasoline company officials had claimed they were obliged to ship gasoline to Quebec at a loss, "thus preventing discrimination against Quebec."

"Today, however, the situation is reversed and, because there is a shortage at the Halifax refinery, we are discriminated against and are not on a par with the rest of Canada."

FROM NEW BRUNSWICK

FREDERICTON (CP) — Reduction of gasoline rations in the Maritimes was protested by Premier J. B. McNair of New Brunswick in a telegram to Munitions Minister Howe.

He declared the order carried the "odor of gross discrimination," particularly in view of recent press reports that the consumption of gasoline in other areas of Canada last month was higher than a year ago.

Cripps Talks Of Second Front

Mediterranean Moves Worrying Axis Heads

By NOLAN NORGAARD

LONDON (AP) — Mysterious talk by one of Britain's political leaders of an Allied offensive coincides with signs of nervousness in the Axis over the Mediterranean front and reports from United States correspondents arriving in Lisbon that the German and Italian people generally are disheartened and disillusioned.

A member of the British war cabinet, Sir Stafford Cripps, declared at the weekend that the government was as eager to form a second European front as the British public, but could not talk about it publicly.

A Berlin broadcast reported that British military authorities in North Africa had carried out a regrouping of forces of the 8th Army in Libya and that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, the German armored force commander in Africa, had held "important conferences" with Gen. Ettore Bastico, Libyan governor and commander-in-chief of Italian forces there.

The German broadcast explained the British were reorganizing forces because they "obviously were troubled by the reinforcement of German-Italian troops," but British dispatches quoting Swiss correspondents in Rome said Premier Mussolini and his generals were apprehensive over the possibility of an Allied drive in north Africa before the hot weather sets in in earnest.

REPORTED MASSING

These correspondents said the Italians had heard that United States and British sea and air forces were massing in the eastern Mediterranean. The German radio reported the first brush with an American four-motored bomber of the Consolidated type in Africa, declaring it was downed. The determination of the British to defend Malta by reinforcing that fortress, even at great risk, also was said to have greatly impressed the Italians.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Lord Privy Seal, told constituents at Bristol the British government was as keen and anxious for the opening of a second front against the Axis as the people themselves.

"The only difference between us and you is that you can talk freely about it, whereas we cannot," he said.

"Already the Germans are getting uneasy at the militant offensive spirit of the British and American people in this matter of a second front," he added. "The Germans will, I believe, show something more than nervousness when our two governments translate that militant spirit into offensive action, as they certainly will at the moment they judge it opportune."

'Smash Hitler' Says Tim Buck

TORONTO (CP)—A message said to have been from Tim Buck, secretary of the outlawed Communist Party of Canada, was heard from a recording played Sunday night at the closing session of a week-end meeting here of the National Council for Democratic Rights.

The recording, which urged "Smash Hitler now," was played following the reading of a message from Buck in which he said he was unable to attend the meeting "because the government made it impossible."

Government officials have said at Ottawa that Buck, whose whereabouts have not been known since the Communist Party was outlawed in 1940, would be arrested if found.

SAYS HE WILL SPEAK

Resolutions were passed asking release of anti-Fascists interned in Canada and in announcing the message from Buck. A. A. MacLeod, editor of the Canadian Tribune, said that "within 30 or 60 days, Tim Buck and his colleagues will speak from a public platform here."

The recorded message said: "Now is the time to strike Hitler. He can and must be defeated this year. Let the slogan ring across Canada: 'Everything for Victory, Smash Hitler now.'"

Officials of the N.C.D.R. said 212 delegates attending the Sunday meeting were from 30 unions and 38 other organizations "representing some 35,000 workers." The delegates were said to represent workers in Sudbury, Hamilton, Oshawa, Midland, Kitchener, Windsor and Toronto.

Growing Season In B.C. Later

British Columbia Department of Agriculture in its first report for 1942 said today the growing season in the province this year will be from 10 days to two weeks later than usual and despite a deficiency in winter precipitation in most districts, the lands are in good shape for operations.

On Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands rainfall for the winter was only 4.86 inches, compared with an average of 10.98 inches and hours of sunlight also showed a marked decrease. Early plums of the Burbank type were in bloom by the middle of March and strawberries were in full bloom about May 1 on the islands. Rhubarb and asparagus have been moving for some time from these areas.

SPINACH AVAILABLE

Supplies From Rostock Stopped

Nazi Airdromes Hit By R.C.A.F. Squadron

LONDON (CP) — In fresh reported his aircraft "flicked sweeps across the Channel for more than two hours early this morning, the R.A.F. continued today the hammering of targets along the French coast from Dunkerque to Boulogne. This came a few hours after a Sunday night raid in which an R.C.A.F. squadron of the fighter command attacked German airdromes in Holland. The Canadians scored hits on flare paths and hangars.

Early this morning residents along the English coast heard heavy explosions, similar in power to those heard Sunday when the R.A.F. engaged in some of its biggest sweeps of the year.

MEET OPPOSITION

Sunday's fliers ran into their first real opposition in several weeks, hundreds of fighters battling for control of the sky over northern France. At least nine German and eight British planes were reported destroyed.

USED BOSTONS

The Canadians who attacked Holland flew Boston bombers. During one attack a cone of 12 searchlights tried to illumine one of the planes, but the pilot

Another Boston had to drive away from a cone of 20 searchlights and more came on ahead. But the Canadians were too tricky for them and the lights were still groping around the sky as the bombers crossed Netherlands coast.

The squadron had its first operation last month.

Meanwhile, the Air Ministry said that as a result of the pulverizing raids last month on the German Baltic city of Rostock there had been a "complete stoppage of all war supplies."

Rostock was an important outlet for war supplies for the Russian front.

The Air Ministry said the Neptune shipbuilding yard and sub-factories of the Heinkel aircraft works there were reported heavily damaged.

Hit-and-run German air raiders swooped down on a southeast English coast town at dawn today and destroyed three houses in their swift attack. There was no immediate report of casualties but it was feared some persons were buried in the ruins.

Recover Bodies From Northern Lake

EDMONTON (CP) — Bodies of seven of the 12 United States officers and men who were drowned last week near Fort St. John, B.C., have been recovered and dragging operations are proceeding for the other five bodies, it was learned here today from a man who just returned from the scene.

He said the party of 17 men were ferrying across the lake on two pontoons, parallel to each other, and powered by two "kickers," or outboard motors. One failed, the pontoons separated and the men were thrown into the water.

A "jeep" and caterpillar tractor and other equipment were being taken across, and they also were lost. Two of the men who lost their lives, a major and a lieutenant, were sitting in the "jeep" when the accident occurred. They did not have a chance, the informant declared.

A trapper, watching from shore, saw the party crossing the lake one moment, and the next saw nothing but water. He rowed out in a boat and managed to save five of the men.

Rome Says Goering Buys Art Treasures

By RICHARD MASSOCK
LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Herman Goering, Hitler's No. 1 choice as his successor, is reputed in Italy to be soaking away money by buying up art treasures.

Italian public opinion holds German tourists and numerous Nazi missions to Italy stocked with lire allegedly bought abroad at "black market" rates, responsible for a conspicuous part in a rush to convert money into precious gems and art objects. According to rumor, Goering had a buyer in Italy who bought up almost $1,000,000 worth of art treasures, pictures, tapestries and other valuables. "I have seen the buyer's business card and I know one wealthy Italian collector who said he had refused to sell a picture to the Reichsmarshal."

2 Kamloops Children Drowned in Thompson

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Dragging operations continued today for the body of one of two children drowned Sunday when they fell from a log into the North Thompson River, 17 miles north of here.

The body of Mary Emma Lott, six-year-old daughter of Reginald Lott, farmer of Vinsulla, was recovered Sunday afternoon, but the body of her eight-year-old brother, Robert, was still being sought in the river.

The children had herded sheep to the river for watering. When they failed to return the father followed their footprints to a log at the river's edge.

Provincial police from Kamloops are directing dragging operations.

District 3A wardens met in Britannia Hall last week when reports were made by different committees.

District warden G. H. Hallatt announced his wish to be relieved of the duties of district warden, as he had not the necessary time to devote to the work. He, however, agreed to carry on till a successor was appointed.

Next meeting will be held tonight at 8 in the Britannia Hall, instead of May 25, this latter date being a public holiday. A short address will be given by Dr. Irene Hudson on A.R.P. work as seen in London.

Grain Storage Crisis Foreseen

CHICAGO (AP)—A grain storage crisis in the United States, in the making since the close of the drought period five years ago, is being foreseen.

Grain men said today that when harvesters go to work in southwest wheat fields in a week or so, reaping of a crop for which there is not enough available storage room will begin. There already is a shortage of space although the country's capacity is the greatest in history.

The overflowing ever-normal granary, partly a result of several years of excellent crops, during a period when the government supported prices by encouraging withholding of stocks from market, and of stagnation of export trade because of the war, is in sharp contrast to near-famine conditions in Europe.

Gallup Poll

Over Half U.S. Car Owners Fear Tires Won't Last Year

PRINCETON, N.J. — Unless driving is drastically reduced, approximately 4,400,000 U.S. families will have to take their cars off the road within six months, a survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup Poll) indicates. Within 12 months, at the present rate of driving, at least 12,000,000 of the 20,000,000 car-owning families will be forced to put up their autos because of worn-out tires.

Assuming that government reports on the synthetic rubber situation are correct, gasoline rationing on a national scale would thus seem to be indicated, even if gasoline were as plentiful as water. Rationing went into effect this week in the north-eastern states and plans are being discussed in Washington, D.C., to extend it to other sections. (In Canada, gasoline has been rationed in all parts of the country since April 1.)

WIDE EFFECT

The gravity of the tire situation is revealed in the institute's interviews with car-owning families in all the 48 states. Tire and gas rationing will affect roughly three-fifths of American families. While there are approximately 31,000,000 registered cars, there are only about 20,000,000 car-owning families, a large number of the nation's vehicles being owned by business houses.

Among questions put to car owners in the survey was the following:

"About how long do you think it will be before your tires are so worn out that you will not be able to drive your car?"

If the results of the institute's questioning are applied against the 20,000,000 car-owning families the tire situation today shapes up as follows:

Already 400,000 families have had to lay up their cars because tires are worn out.

Between now and Oct. 1 an additional 4,400,000 will have to put up their autos for the same reason, if they continue driving at the present rate.

Between now and May of next year a total of 12,000,000 will have to put up their cars.

Between next May and a year later another 6,400,000 will, if they continue driving at the same rate they are now driving, find it impossible to continue operating.

Only about 1,800,000 think their tires will last more than two years at the present rate of driving.

LONG FAMINE ANTICIPATED

Moreover, the majority of motorists are not deluding themselves about the ability of the synthetic rubber program to fill the gap.

In a question designed to bring out their views on the future of this program, the institute found that the largest number of car owners believe it will be at least two to four years before civilians can buy tires again in the usual way.

Any nation-wide gasoline rationing plan would affect the farmers of the country more seriously than any other large group. Less than one-third of farmers with cars who were questioned by the institute say they can do without their auto. The bulk of farmers claim that somewhere between 100 and 500 miles of driving a month are essential to their welfare.

Among workers and among white collar and business people the percentage who say they could get along without any car is much higher—37 per cent in the case of the business and white collar class and 61 per cent in the case of workers.

The need for private automobiles varies in direct ratio to the size of the community—the larger the city, the less the need, as shown in the following survey results:

	Could Get Along Without Car	Could Not
Farm areas	32%	68%
Towns—under 10,000 popul'n	55%	45%
Towns and cities over 10,000	63%	37%

Norway Thrust Feared By Nazis

LONDON (CP)—Hitler has sent 50,000 combat troops into Norway since March, despite demands of the Russian front, and has persuaded Vichy to send almost 500,000 tons of goods—largely war materials—as well as troops to Dakar, French West Africa, British sources declared today.

They said signs that the Nazis fear an Allied thrust into northern Norway were evident also from a German army order that traffic on all roads leading north from the port of Narvik to Tromsø be limited to military transport, and from the dispatch of several Austrian mountain regiments to the area between Narvik and Kirkenes.

Norwegian government circles here reported a new group of 160 teachers had been sent to forced labor on military fortifications in the Kirkenes area in the far north on the Finnish border, in addition to the original 500 sent to the same area.

NEW AIRDROMES

Large numbers of German air force ground crews have been sent into northern Norway to operate new airdromes from which the Nazi planes are harassing convoys taking British and United States goods to Russia, it was said.

Shipping reports are said to reveal Vichy has been sending large quantities of war materials and "substantial" numbers of troops to Dakar from Marseille since the first of this year.

More than 100 cargo ships have left the port, many of them closely supervised by the French-German commission, since January, reports said.

One entire tank brigade was reported to have gone to Dakar as a unit.

A PRACTICAL TIRE SAVING PLAN FOR EVERY MOTORIST IRRESPECTIVE OF THE MAKE OF YOUR TIRES

The Dunlop Tire Saving Plan involves no contracts, no long-term or other obligations, and no urging to purchase any service other than what you strictly require. It offers no priority rating to users except on service and strictly within government war regulations. Every Dunlop dealer has committed himself to help Canada's War Effort by absolute adherence to the law. No patriotic motorist would want a dealer to do otherwise.

But the Dunlop Plan does mean that you will serve Canada better by making your tires last longer... that you will get more mileage than you ever enjoyed before from your tires... and that this service will give you increased driving safety every mile you travel.

First Instituted in August, 1941

Nine months ago, Dunlop-Canada presented, for the first time in Canada, a wartime tire saving service dedicated to the conservation of one of the most precious assets in the world today... RUBBER.

That Tire Saving Service is still benefiting many Canadians and is still available... not only to Dunlop users BUT TO ALL MOTORISTS, IRRESPECTIVE OF THE MAKE OF TIRES ON THEIR CARS.

No Needless or Unnecessary Expense Work Done Only When Required

Remember, under the Dunlop Tire Saving Plan, no unnecessary work is advised or undertaken; it is an intelligent Tire Saving Plan under which work is done only where it is needed and all such work is performed on a MINIMUM COST BASIS. In other words, the motorist pays only where actual service is necessary and then pays a minimum charge. The Dunlop Tire Saving Service, too, is fair to all. Careful drivers under this plan naturally pay less than careless drivers. Those driving long mileages should pay for more necessary services or repairs as the case may be. We feel this is more beneficial to the greater number of motorists rather than by averaging the same cost among all. The careful driver is not being penalized and made to pay for the abusive driver or the one who is able, even under restrictions, to drive long mileages over hard roads.

Drive in today to your nearest Dunlop dealer. Ask him for the Dunlop Preferred Service Card and have your first tire check-up under the Dunlop Tire Saving Plan.

DUNLOP DEALERS 7-POINT TIRE SAVING SERVICE

(You will be given a Preferred Service Card entitling you to special call on your Dunlop Dealer's time and service facilities. No dealer will issue more cards than he can service efficiently.)

1. INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL TIRE INSPECTION—The Dunlop dealer will remove all tires and thoroughly inspect them inside for the presence of small cuts or bruises. He will also examine them outside and remove nails, glass and gravel. He will advise you of any signs of faulty wheel alignment or wrongly adjusted brakes. (Tire repairs where necessary will be made at low current charges.)

2. ROTATION OF TIRES—When replacing your tires the Dunlop dealer will rotate them so as to even wear and prolong the life of your tires.

3. TIRE INSPECTION AND REPAIRS—The Dunlop dealer will completely check tubes for weakness or leaks.

4. REIN SERVICE—Rims will be scraped, painted and treated with graphite if required.

5. TIRE PAINTING—Your tires will be painted as required.

6. VALVE SERVICE—All valve caps and valve cores will be checked and replaced where necessary.

7. SERIAL NUMBERS—The Dunlop dealer will gladly provide you with the serial numbers of your tires, and we suggest you always carry them with you for emergency identification.

Motorists should get tire air pressure checked when purchasing gasoline. (Service stations have most excellent equipment for this.) Normally it is not necessary to lay up your car to have all 7 points done at one time, although all can be quickly completed in one undertaking.

If it is time for internal tire inspection, then all tires must be removed and points 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 can all be taken care of at the same time.

Only a few dollars are involved in the major points if you have these done. Valve service involves only a few cents for the replacement of valve caps or cores.

Your Dunlop dealer will do only those jobs that are absolutely necessary, and these are the only ones you will be obliged to pay for. Any Dunlop dealer will estimate and show you how few dollars are involved to have any part or the complete 7 point service done. If you are a long-distance driver and your tires are subject to unusual abuse, we suggest you get the complete service twice a year.

Harwood Named Chief Of Mediterranean Fleet

SIR HENRY HARWOOD
... arrives in Alexandria

LONDON (CP)—Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham has been named head of the British Admiralty delegation in Washington and Rear-Admiral Sir Henry Harwood already has arrived in Alexandria to succeed him as commander-in-chief of the British fleet in the Mediterranean, the Admiralty announced today.

It was stated Admiral Cunningham, who succeeds Admiral Sir Charles Little, will leave for Washington shortly.

Admiral Little has been appointed commander-in-chief of Portsmouth naval base.

Admiral Harwood is given the acting rank of admiral. His recent post has been assistant chief of naval staff at the Admiralty.

"Bobbie" Harwood is described as a "master tactician." He received a knighthood and special promotion from commodore to rear-admiral in December, 1939, after he led the successful cruiser action against the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee off the estuary of the River Plate.

DESERVED TRIBUTE

In Washington, Admiral Cunningham will be the Royal Navy's representative on the chiefs of staff committee and will have ample opportunity for the offensive planning which has resulted, as Jane's Fighting Ships said last week, in the destruction of many more Italian ships than it has been possible to identify.

The promotion to Sir Henry Harwood is regarded by the public as a deserved tribute.

As commodore commanding the South American division of the fleet, he led his own ship, the cruiser Exeter, the Ajax and the New Zealand-manned Achilles against the much-heavier Graf Spee off the entrance to the River Plate, Dec. 13, 1939.

After a heavy running fight, during which the Exeter was damaged and had to drop out of action, the enemy vessel was repeatedly hit and took refuge in Montevideo harbor. The Graf Spee left harbor Dec. 17 and scuttled herself in shallow water by a tremendous explosion.

The Exeter was lost this year in the Battle of Java.

(Rear-Admiral Harwood visited Victoria in July and August, 1937, as commodore of the South American division of the American and West Indies station, aboard H.M.S. Exeter. His visit was made in connection with Victoria's Navy Week, held that year in conjunction with the city's 75th anniversary.)

Laval's Dilemma

FATE WAS IN HER MOST CAPRICIOUS mood when she chose the status of Martinique and other French possessions in the western Atlantic for the first test of Pierre Laval's foreign policy as it concerned the United States. Not only did Secretary of State Cordell Hull ignore him and his puppet regime altogether by dealing directly with Admiral Georges Robert-High Commissioner for the territories in question—but also backed the presentation of Washington's demands with an appropriate array of persuasive "argument."

To add to the confusion of Vichy's chief of government, Admiral Robert accommodated himself to the difficult situation with little apparent hesitation. The immobilization of French warships began promptly and negotiations in respect of the disposition of a substantial amount of merchant shipping followed. But nothing Laval could say or threaten to do had the slightest effect on the State Department at Washington. At this point, of course, Germany took a hand behind the scenes; the chief of government went to Nazi-occupied Paris to receive instructions from his overlord's representative. The result was a blustering statement from Vichy on Saturday in which the arch-collaborationist informed the world he could not accept the United States' conditions regarding the status of Martinique—and he coupled with it the naive remark that "my presence in the French government does not exactly appear to inspire the entire confidence of the Washington government." The word "entire" is somewhat superfluous; but Laval was correct in his general interpretation of our neighbor's attitude toward him.

In the vernacular, Pierre Laval is "on the spot," focused in the limelight; and he knows Mr. Hull is controlling the switch. Vichy's Quisling can accept the situation as it now stands, plus further acquiescence in Washington's wishes on Admiral Robert's part, or appease the men of Berlin by surrendering the French fleet and French African bases. Should he decide on the latter course, he may be inviting another Oran, with United States as well as British fighting ships involved. This would be tempting Providence with a vengeance. And could the Germans afford to risk the reaction of an already sullen and restless populace to a sudden realization that Laval had taken France into war with the United States? No matter what the Vichy Quisling chooses to do, however, he still remains the victim of his own duplicity.

Strange Little Man

UNTIL THE VIOLENCE OF ACTUAL war descends upon India proper the world will have to wait to see how the Congress Party's "nonviolent nonco-operation" against the enemy works out. Some have argued that the principle in operation would be a great handicap to any invader; realists are under no such illusion. In the meantime, however, Mr. Gandhi seems to be taking a keen delight in adding to the confusion his party's policy may already have created. He told a press conference yesterday that he would oppose the application of the scorched-earth program for India because he considers it "barbaric, suicidal and unnecessary." He added this fantastic explanation:

"If the enemy helps himself to crops which I may be forced to leave because I don't choose to defend them, I don't mind taking the risk of the enemy fattening on my crops."

The simple fare on which Mr. Gandhi lives, of course, enables him to contemplate with calm detachment the prospect of an enemy getting fat on stolen food; but either he has failed to understand the Japanese and their program for India, or he is issuing periodic statements to add to the difficulties of those leaders who realize that a fatening enemy within the gates of India might well postpone the day of India's independence for many years to come. Surely Mr. Nehru will take issue with his aged colleague whose new concept of "nonviolent nonco-operation" will bring no cheer to Mr. Nehru's friend—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Unified Control

MILITARY MEN AND PARLIAMENTARIANS are finding it difficult to agree on the subject of a unified command for the three branches of Britain's fighting services. Viscount Simon has just defended the present plan in a debate in the House of Lords and argues that a great general staff on the German model is impossible for British application under cabinet and parliamentary control; the idea of surrendering authority to a single dictator, in other words, was out of the question. Advocates of a change, on the other hand, point to the fact that this war is without parallel and must be fought on different lines as far as the general direction of it is concerned.

It requires no expert knowledge to suggest that total war is no longer a game in which different branches of the service compete for the glory of carrying the ball for the winning touchdown. The objective before the United Nations is to beat the enemy to his knees and impose terms upon him that will restore freedom and democracy to those nations he has despoiled and enslaved. No technique calculated to achieve such a victory should be overlooked—even though many well-meaning disciples of orthodoxy may stand aghast at the right battle training through which officers and men alike are going in preparation for the offensive.

When Hitler planned his career of conquest he recognized in advance the necessity for ground troops, air force and, where possible, the navy, to be integrated elements of a single machine. We saw to our horror how the system worked during the painfully few weeks he required to establish himself on the whole of the Atlantic coastline from the North Cape right to the Spanish border. Although, of course, there has been excellent co-operation between the three branches of the British fighting service—more particularly in the Libyan battles and in the commando raids—the task which still lies ahead would seem to require that kind of clock-like co-ordination by which the Nazi organization profited so extensively from the outset.

Italy's military genius, General Douhet, had been dead some nine years when this war of the continents broke out. But before he died, noting Mussolini's sabre-rattling, he pointed with unassailable logic to what is now being recognized by many leaders of the United Nations. True, as he has been quoted as advocating, Douhet urged that the air force be divorced from both army and navy and put on its own. But, and this was overlooked, he urged that all three services be placed under a supreme commander-in-chief with a national defence general staff which would be neither army nor navy nor air force, but would control all three.

The Germans adopted the Douhet idea. They put some 30 staff officers through a course of training that made them expert on land, at sea, or in the air. These men were capable of thinking in the three dimensions, and co-ordinating all of the Reich's personnel and paraphernalia of battle. The story of this war thus far contains too many episodes, of which Pearl Harbor was the most spectacular, in which our side has lost important first tricks because we relied upon co-operation while the Axis imposed co-ordination.

Another Offensive

TO DESTROY NAZISM AND FASCISM root and branch is obviously the paramount job confronting the United Nations. It is the full realization of the staggering nature of the task that at times is apt to confuse us and eliminate from our minds all consideration for what lies beyond the victory which none doubts will be achieved. However, the newly-generated offensive spirit, the persistent demand for the opening of what is loosely called a second front, is regarded by men like Sir Stafford Cripps as a happy augury for the future as well as for the positive significance it imparts to the desire to scale the main hurdle.

In other words, if, after 32 months of war, with all its disappointments and sufferings, there can exist such a whole-hearted and enthusiastic readiness to undergo new trials, a willingness to accept the gloom which long casualty lists must of necessity shed, the foundation assuredly is being laid for an all-out offensive of another kind after the clang of battle has ceased. This is the offensive against poverty, poor health, inadequate housing and unemployment. Conditions which these terms embrace are not only common to highly-industrialized and thickly-populated prewar Britain; we had them in us in Canada to an alarming degree before Sept. 3, 1939. Our major preoccupation has relegated them to the background for the time being. But they will return unless we prepare well in advance to combat the all-too-familiar practices which some believe will reappear if too many are permitted to prate about the restoration of the status quo.

We may as well get it into our heads now that our way of life after peace has been established will be no more like that of three summers ago than black is like white. We are in for years of regulation in one form or another whether we like it or not. But it does lie within our power to govern ourselves in preparation for the transition period—while such material benefits as flow to us in this time of spurious prosperity can be utilized with intelligent anticipation of the pinch to come. Government reconstruction programs, it should be remembered, will succeed only as far as the people support such programs.

If you want to start on the road to thinness, here's hoping you lose your weight!

Just 25 years ago today—May 18, 1917—Prime Minister Sir Robert Borden announced the intention of the government of Canada to adopt conscription.

'DER HENKER' IN PARIS

From New York Times

In happier days spring in Paris was the season of beauty and joy, of unfolding blossoms and gay flower markets. This year it is marked by the arrival of Reinhard Heydrich, "Der Henker," and the dark unfolding of crepe in memory of murdered hostages.

Evidently enough innocent blood has not been spilled in France. The firing squads have not broken the grim French will to resist "collaboration." So Heydrich, "The Hangman," is sent for to show France what a real German blood bath means. He comes well equipped for his work. Behind him in Czechoslovakia he leaves no fewer than 500 murdered victims. Fifty Frenchmen died to celebrate his arrival in Paris. But his cold wrath is implacable. Because of his criminal efficiency, Hitler has elevated him to his present post of honor as vice-commander of the Gestapo. No doubt in France he will rise even higher on greater hecatombs of martyrs.

MICE AND MEN

TODAY we must consider a very dull subject, the report of certain experts concerning the future of the world. But first, purely as a matter of public record, and I must publish the news just received from next door. The little boy who lives there has written me a letter, and he says that "the moses (sic) have come." Lest this be considered a reference to a certain Biblical character, let me explain that the mice have come.

Yes, the blessed event long awaited in the basement next door has occurred. The black mouse has turned out to be a lady of profligate propensities and has given to the world a litter of half a dozen babies which, as a result of the mercenary principles prevailing next door, will be sold throughout the neighborhood for 15 cents apiece. This is your chance to get a mouse cheap. (Advertisement.)

And if you imagine the price to be excessive consider the tribulations of the entrepreneur. He had to pay for the father mouse, which is white, and for the mother which is black, and after that there were some items of expense for food. But the most serious difficulty was concerned with the escape of the mother which wandered about in the basement for some days, lost, and in an interesting condition, so that the people next door expected that her offspring would shortly become wild and inhabit the house thenceforth.

The entrepreneur therefore was warned that if he did not catch her and return her to the family home in the shoe box traps would be laid and the whole commercial enterprise assuredly would collapse.

SEARCH

AT THIS THE ENTREPRENEUR and his friends Barclay were alarmed. Barclay, who had supplied the black mouse and felt that he was at least an equal partner in the result, said he could not understand why the people next door were so fussy; and intimated that when they were always worried by ordinary mice from the fields outside, they surely could not complain at the presence of a few well-bred, high-class mice of the very best breeding, with established pedigrees and, he trusted, of a piebald color, reflecting jointly the coloring of their parents.

CAPTURE

HOWEVER, greatly moved, the partners proceeded to search the basement, that was a considerable undertaking. It involved moving every stick of two cords of heavy wood, as well as various trunks, garden chairs, and approximately a ton of coal. It was worse than searching for a needle in a haystack because the mouse could move and, despite her condition, apparently moved very rapidly.

She was sighted at various points in rapid motion and her dark color enabled her in the darkness of the cellar to escape. Meanwhile the white mouse was reported to be desolate at the loss of his mate and would not eat. He had been such a faithful husband, too. He had kept his wife in the nest and brought her tidbits of bread, which he carefully soaked in milk (according to the owner) and in every way had shown himself conscious of his dawning responsibilities as an expectant father.

Well, in the end, after a day's search, and after the shifting of about 10 tons of assorted debris, the mother mouse was discovered hiding under a baseball glove and was carried carefully home. And there two days ago, as my informant says, "the moses have come."

At this writing they are thriving and should be ready for sale within a week or two. And now I find that I have no room left to discuss the important matter of the experts' opinion on the future of the world, which I know you will deeply regret. But if you are looking for a piebald mouse, you know where to get one.

REPORT FROM BRITAIN

Mollie Panter-Downes Letter from London

The loss of Malaya has already had disastrous effects on thousands of British lives. Not only large fortunes have crashed with it, but smaller incomes deriving from life savings put back into the East by elderly former planters and businessmen out there. Many a villa at Cheltenham or any of the other English spas of the comfortably retired now finds itself facing ruin.

Difficulties of communication have naturally sharpened anxiety. Most of the big London firms which once operated in Malaya have been without word from their planters or of their estates. The Colonial Office and the department of the Red Cross which handles inquiries about missing people have been jammed by anxious relatives hopeful for news. On the Monday after Singapore fell, it seemed that every Londoner one talked to either had a friend or relative on the island or knew someone who had. It also seemed that there was a general realistic acceptance of a longer, harder war, which, even if it doesn't make its full bloody horror felt here (and many people think that the expected spring offensive may be switched to England), will certainly make Britons look back upon the last two years as a dream of luxury and easy living. The cut in the basic petrol ration was just a start, it is believed, of further stringent civilian disciplining to come. Because of the grave turn of events, no one would be surprised and many would be pleased to see that basic ration cut to nothing for all except those with some very good reason for motoring.

All is not gold that glitters, but the government won't quibble over it.

Meat for the Troops

From the Official Hansard Report of the House of Commons

Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence—Then there was a recommendation (from an interdepartmental subcommittee) with regard to meat supplies. The subcommittee recommended that consideration be given to a proposal submitted by the packers for the saving of fat from beef carcasses by having such fat trimmed from the carcass at the packing plant and the purchase of pork in trimmed cuts, leaving with the packer such parts as spareribs, tail, fat, skin, hocks, bones, scrap and belly.

The action taken was that after careful study of this proposal it was decided that to provide the greatest possible variety of meat dishes it would be more advantageous to continue the purchase of beef and fresh pork in sides and carcasses. So that there is no waste, steps are taken to ensure the use of all the residue parts of the beef and hog carcasses; mincing machines with sausage attachments are provided, together with authority for the purchase of sausage casings, seasonings, etc.

I remember in that connection meeting with a cook on the Pacific coast who wanted a sausage machine. I promised to get him one, and it has gone to him. The machine is very useful, in fact, from the point of view of dietetics, and also from that of saving.

Recipes have been circulated to all units, giving complete instructions for the making of beef and pork sausage, headcheese, pickled pork and corned beef. The issue of three ounces of lard per man per day has been discontinued, so that

ANOTHER BIG ONE GOES

From Bridge River News

Anyone doubting the heritage of British Columbia and the riches that lie within its boundaries will be glad to know that trees of Vancouver Island are still being cut for saw mills and measure eight foot at the butt and are round to the core.

Such was the case at Cowichan when the M. and G. Logging Company cut down one of the Barnum trees and hauled it away to Cowichan Bay, for cutting. The wonder is, what F. J. D. Barnum, the late multimillionaire Montrealer who was going to save this tree and other great forest giants for posterity would say. Barnum died. He couldn't make his wealth do things for him after death, and so the stand that was to have been a permanent forest reservation, has ceased with his plan and his death.

FOREST FIRE MENACE

From Cowichan Leader

Statements concerning preparedness for forest fires, made by the Forest Branch, appeared in the Victoria Daily Times last Saturday. There are 1,500 fully equipped fire-fighters lined up and preparations made to reinforce these with 2,000 men who might be called up. These are figures for the island. Some of the 1,000 conscientious objectors arriving in B.C. will be here also. By law any man, 16 to 60, with few exceptions and unless unfit physically, can be impressed for service. Men can be taken from "streets, stores or offices and put to work in the woods."

Between the desires of Mr. R. W. Mayhew, M.P., as quoted last week, and island preparations there may still be a great gulf fixed. We shall know for certain before the fall rains come.

cooks are now compelled to obtain this supply from the dripping and rendering of fats of meats to which reference has been made. All other residue of meats from kitchens, such as bones, rough fat, and kitchen grease, is disposed of by sale under arrangements approved by the chief salvage officer.

The next recommendation was that some system should be devised whereby the quality of meat furnished could be passed on by government inspectors prior to the carcass being cut up.

The action taken was this: The question of the inspection of beef at packing houses by Department of Agriculture inspectors to ascertain whether it conformed with the specifications of contract prior to its distribution to the supply depots was under consideration at the time the subcommittee considered this matter of meat inspection. In the spring and early summer of 1941 a system was adopted whereby all beef, destined for the army supply depots inspected at point of origin and found in accordance with departmental specifications was stamped with a Department of National Defence prick stamp which designated that, at the time of inspection, the beef was in accordance with government specifications.

This inspection, however, does not in any way relieve the officers of any of their responsibility; they make their own inspection when the beef arrives at their supply depots and, if judged by them to be below contract specifications, their duty is immediately to reject such beef, regardless of the fact that it may carry the stamp of the agricultural inspector referred to above.

CANADA MARCHES ON

From Daily Mirror, London

In years to come Canada's war industrial effort will stand out as one of the astonishing things of the war.

Soldiers we expected in plenty, and we have got them; fine men, finely equipped, and eager for action. But Canada's manufacturing capacity has exceeded anything thought possible a few years ago.

Take one fact alone. This year Canada will launch from her own shipyards a tonnage about as great as that of Great Britain; as great, that is, as the country which, for many generations, has been the maritime leader of the world!

Other industries are developing rapidly and may, in time, reach similar proportions. The significance of this change cannot be lost on those who are fond of planning for the future.

The British Commonwealth will no longer consist of one great industrial centre sending out its products in return for food and raw materials. It will consist of a number of "mixed" industrial countries, each with its own resources.

On this basis a new economy will have to be worked out. The old methods of controlled markets, tariff walls and all the paraphernalia of national greed and selfishness must be abandoned. In their place will come a system of free exchange based on the principle that the fruits of the earth shall be used, not for profit, but for the equal benefit of all mankind.

CRUISE TO HERON BAY

From Fort Erie Times-Review

Premier Hepburn is losing his memory. This is the only conclusion one can reach after reading a Canadian Press dispatch dated Toronto, April 4, 1942. Mr. Hepburn is quoted as giving an explanation of his yachting trip last summer. And it isn't the same explanation that he gave the St. Thomas Times-Journal, his hometown paper, on Sept. 3, 1941.

Over the civic holiday week-end last year, Mr. Hepburn was the guest on a large oil-burning yacht. The owner of the yacht was a Mrs. McNamara but the yacht was leased to Arthur A. Schmon, president of the Ontario Paper Company, which is owned by the Chicago Tribune. So it would seem that he was the host. Others aboard included Chester Walters, Ontario's No. 1 civil servant; Arthur Slaght, who may be rated as the Tribune's, or the Ontario Paper Company's, No. 1 Canadian lawyer, and Melvin C. Martin of Chicago, the Chicago Tribune's principal lawyer who has been making trips to Canada for as many as 25 years; he was active in Ottawa following the last war in trying to get the Borden cabinet to relieve the Tribune's Canadian paper mill from its share of the obligation in providing sufficient newsprint to enable Canadian newspapers to publish.

When the yacht reached Sault Ste. Marie, the party, or some of them, journeyed to Heron Bay, on Lake Superior, by plane. Heron Bay is the port and railway station through which the Tribune gets its pulpwood cut from crown lands.

Mr. Hepburn's explanation to the St. Thomas paper last September as to why he joined in an oil-burning junket as a guest of the Canadian manager of properties owned by that arch-enemy of Britain, the Chicago Tribune, was that it was a trip in which he had insisted on paying their share of the expenses. He also went to some length to defend Mr. Schmon and was vague about any connection between the Ontario Paper Company and the Chicago Tribune. As Prime Minister of the province it is Mr. Hepburn's duty to know that the Ontario Paper Company is owned lock, stock and barrel by the Chicago Tribune and that Mr. Schmon is its zealous servant.

Eight months after these explanations Mr. Hepburn's recollection of this pleasant week-end is that the yacht on which he traveled "was owned by Howard McNamara of Toronto. With me on this trip, which was partly for business, were Arthur Slaght, K.C.; Chester Walters, my deputy, and Dr. W. H. Avery."

Surely Mr. Hepburn should not have forgotten in so short a time just who was the host? At any rate it is quite certain that it was not Mr. Howard McNamara. He had died 11 months before.

WITH THE HORSE'S RETURN

From Vancouver Sun

Expertness in the business of transport runs in families. There has not been a horse show or a horse "meeting" of any kind in Vancouver in half a century but a Thorburn was present to tie the ribbons, drive the winners or otherwise to grace the occasion. On Saturday it was "Bob" Thorburn who piloted Spencer's team through the streets to revive horse store deliveries. Giving the instructions to the old driver was W. E. Veitch, veteran delivery manager for the store. He is a son of the late Tom Veitch, whose stables in Trounce Alley 50 years ago provided Vancouver with the best heavy horseflesh of the period.

IN HAPPY MOOD after their wedding Saturday at St. Mary's Church are Pilot Officer Edmund Llewellyn Buchanan, R.C.A.F., and his bride, the former Bertha Burnett, and their attendants. Left to right, Sub-Lieut. Jack Grogan, R.C.N.V.R., best man; Miss Elizabeth Woodward, daughter of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Woodward, who was bridesmaid; the bride and groom. The Times cameraman caught them at the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burnett, Hood Lane.

Beautiful Work by Old and Young

A change of location in its distributing centre provided many interested friends with an opportunity of seeing the magnificent work being carried on by the Victoria branch of the Canadian Red Cross, when heads of the departments were "at home" at 1162 McClure Street Saturday.

In this spacious setting, a steady stream of visitors saw the first fruits of the labors of hundreds of busy women and children who, unheralded and unsung, ply busy needles and deft fingers in this greatest of all humanitarian causes. Miss F. Fitzgibbon, head of the distributing centre, and Mrs. H. S. Beckton, chairman of the Women's Work Committee, with Miss Honor Nash received the guests in the entrance hall.

DAINTY GARMENTS

Miss May Macrae, Miss J. Macdougall, Mrs. S. F. McKay and Mrs. E. M. Denbigh had charge of the civilian clothing display. Here were shown woolies fit for the babies of a king, so dainty were the tiny knitted coats and bonnets with touches of hand embroidery and intricate lacy patterns, infant shawls of fleecy lightness and charming pattern, crib covers of gay flower-like coloring, and complete layettes which would gladden the heart of any mother, let alone one who has come through the blitz and perhaps lost her home and possessions.

For it is to the bombed people of Britain that these attractive parcels of civilian clothing are sent. In the same category are the pretty frocks and coats made for children, beautiful workmanship, gay colors, and a touch of hand embroidery or special stitchery conveying to the recipient a message of affectionate solicitude from the maker. Every garment sent over, while of warm, serviceable quality, has this little personal touch which lifts it high above the "charity" status, and every letter which comes from England in acknowledgment attests to the joy which the Victoria gifts bring to the recipient.

The Junior Red Cross, assisted by Mrs. C. R. Scharff and Mrs. C. Conyers, proudly showed the work done by the little members of the Junior Red Cross. The tiniest tots have sent in piles of hand-knitted facelocks and hemmed handkerchiefs. Later they graduate to the making of scarfs, knitted in bright colors, which will warm the hearts—as well as the throats—of children in the air raid shelters. The older girls—and boys—have been responsible for hundreds of beautifully-knitted baby clothes, children's sweaters, and other comforts.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross is doing a threefold service. It is helping the children of Britain, while at the same time it is teaching its own little members the joy of service to others, the elements of good citizenship, and also teaching them the rudiments of health and hygiene, a triple training which will serve them well in later life.

HOSPITAL SUPPLIES

Upstairs, Mrs. Chas. E. Williams and Miss F. Brown of the hospital committee, demonstrated the making of garments for this branch of the Red Cross service, while Mrs. Sidney G. Cave, Mrs. Frank Crofton, Miss Macintosh, Mrs. A. D. McAuley and Mrs. J. W. Carle showed the intricate and manifold garments, bandages and other supplies needed for surgical and other phases of hospital treatment.

Mrs. J. L. Grimison, Mrs. B. R. Grigg and Miss Freeman had charge of the room housing the wool supplies, where piles of smoothly-knitted socks, seaboot stockings, sweaters of every variety, told their own story of hundreds of busy needles, clicking a chorus of active and sympathetic interest in the welfare of the men on service on the far-flung battle lines.

In the basement the work of packing goes on, workers deftly filling the great boxes with the thousands of garment supplies, sent to civilians and hospitals in all the war zones, together with the boxes of food which bring such comfort and joy to prisoners of war in the hands of the enemy.

OAK BAY 'AT HOME'

A successful "open house" and exhibition of work was held on Friday afternoon by the Oak Bay Red Cross. Visitors were welcomed by the president and the convener, Mrs. P. F. Curtis, and thronged the rooms during the afternoon.

The usual activities were carried on by the workers and samples of work were displayed, including those of the Junior Red Cross from the Oak Bay schools, boys and girls from Monterey and Willows schools, worked during the afternoon demonstrating the making of afghans, facelocks, belts, etc., and were a centre of interest. Each affiliated group had an exhibition of work completed and in the making.

Tea was served under the direction of Mrs. G. C. Corbett, assisted by Mrs. R. C. Pattinson and Miss Virstuk with a group of grade 10 girls from the high school. Pouring tea were Mrs. L. Woodhouse, Mrs. Dexter, Mrs. W. M. Paterson and Mrs. R. W. Worsley. The proceeds, in aid of the Prisoners of War Fund, amounted to $48. Girls of the Junior Red Cross from Willows and Monterey schools took charge of the collection.

During the week the unit undertook the canvass in Oak Bay for the Red Cross National Appeal. The president acted as organizer for the district and received the very efficient and capable assistance of 12 groups of ladies each under a leader of their own choice. All of them were most appreciative of the warm-hearted and sympathetic response from subscribers. The financial result has been most gratifying and the thorough house-to-house canvass is nearly completed.

The secretary, J. C. Morris, with R. R. Taylor, C. Nevill and the president acted as auditors.

GORDON HEAD P.T.A.

Gordon Head P.T.A. met at the school recently. Election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Speed; vice-president, Mrs. Salmon; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Bradley. Plans were completed for the silver tea to be held at Mrs. J. Townsends, San Juan Avenue, Wednesday, from 2.30 until 5 o'clock.

SIGNING THE REGISTER, while the bridegroom looks on, is Mrs. E. A. Lunan, the former Nellie M. Loftis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Loftis, Selkirk Avenue, Victoria. Her marriage to Pilot Officer Edward A. Lunan, R.C.A.F., of Georgetown, Ont., took place at St. Paul's Church, Vancouver, May 9. Canon Harold G. King, who performed the ceremony is seated at the right, with Mrs. Loftis, mother of the bride.

The Social CALENDAR

Mr. G. L. Fraser of Vancouver has returned home after spending a few days in Victoria.

Mrs. M. Charrington, who has been making her home at Bickerton Court, Douglas Street, for some time, has moved to her new home at Queenswood.

Mrs. Walter Eilers and Mrs. Morley Willoughby have arrived from Regina to spend some time at Mrs. Eilers' summer home at Langford.

Miss Denise Brown, who has been spending a few days with her grandmother, Mrs. B. Neill, Island Highway, Langford, has returned to her home at Duncan.

Mrs. Thomas Catterall and her little son, Ross, arrived Friday from her home in San Francisco to visit relatives here. She is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred Booth, Colquitz Avenue.

Dr. O. H. Patrick and Mrs. Patrick of Calgary, who have been visiting in Victoria for the last week with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Patrick, Woodlawn Crescent, have left for their home.

Among Victorians spending the weekend in Vancouver were: F.O. and Mrs. William S. Brooks, Flight-Lieut. and Mrs. E. Beardmore of Montreal, and Flight-Lieut. and Mrs. William Carter, also of Montreal.

In honor of Mrs. Andrew Clarke who, accompanied by her two children, left on Saturday for eastern Canada, Mrs. J. N. Edgar and Mrs. H. L. Sherwood entertained recently at an informal party at the home of Mrs. Edgar, Esquimalt Road.

Guests staying at the Shawinigan Beach Hotel include: Mrs. Gardner Hall, Mrs. C. D. Schofield, Miss Beatrice N. Monks, Mr. and Mrs. A. Smedley, all of Victoria; Mr. Ramsay Traquair, Guysborough, N.S.; Mrs. P. L. B. Bernard, Saskatoon; Lieut. and Mrs. F. L. Q. Fairley, Vancouver; Mr. G. H. Lawrence, New Westminster.

Miss Gwen Wright and Miss Betty McMurray were hostesses Sunday afternoon at the tea hour in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel in honor of Miss Constance Stephens, a recent graduate of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, who is leaving shortly for Ottawa to make her home. Gay bowls of spring flowers decorated the lounge and tea table which was presided over by Mrs. A. Smith and Miss Peggy Angus and about 30 guests were present.

The 21st birthday of their daughter, Betty, was the occasion for a jolly party Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Groth, 2543 Cedar Hill Road, when about 50 young people gathered for an evening of dancing and games. The honored guest was presented with a dainty corsage of pink carnations and lily of the valley. Music during the festivities was provided by Mrs. F. Groth, Miss Groth's aunt from Nanaimo, and Mrs. A. Petford of James Island, they also providing the accompaniment for the sing-song which brought the evening to a close. Refreshments were served and in the place of honor on the table was a handsome birthday cake alight with 21 candles. A silver basket of pink and white carnations and pink tapers in silver holders completed the decorations. Many colored balloons were strung across the ceiling and released to the guests after supper. The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Petford, Mr. and Mrs. C. Fry, Mr. and Mrs. F. Slater, Mr. and Mrs. F. Groth, the Misses Audrey Parker, Ronnie Mark, Vickie Bourke, Bunty McKenzie, Helen Reynolds, Velma Holmes, Belva Shaw, Betty Jamieson, Marjorie Baker, Muriel Collier, Lillian Harper, May Cooper, Elsie Watson, Mary Wilson, Kay Hutton, Peggy Pepper, Barbara Munro and Kay Crystel and Messrs. Sawdust 'Swamper'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Is no job safe from women? Not when they're like 20-year-old Pety Morris, who is recognized as Vancouver's only woman sawdust "swamper."

Husky Peggy is helper of a truck that delivers sawdust in 55-pound sacks from sawmills to homes for use as fuel. She hops to fill the sacks, then totes them from truck to fuel bin. She's been doing it a week.

"My shoulders and back were black and blue the first day," Peggy said. "But it's all right now. When I've been at it a little longer I'll be able to carry two sacks at once."

METCHOSIN HOSTESS CLUB

Metchosin Hall was the scene of a successful dance of the Metchosin Hostess Club Friday evening. The 10-piece Victoria Rifles orchestra supplied the music, with Rfn. Quinn as the master of ceremonies. The hall was attractively decorated with greenery and colorful caps, which were later showered amongst the dancers. Novelty dances and jitterbug contests were added attractions.

Many Victoria girls assisted the hostesses in entertainment of the many soldiers and sailors Messrs. H. M. Bolton and J. McCreight of the Metchosin Hospital Auxiliary served refreshments. Misses Phyllis Houghton and Ruth Beckingham took

MR. B. M. LAVOIE, R.C.N.

MISS GERARDINE MURRAY

The engagement is announced of Gerardine (Gerry) Margaret Mary, youngest daughter of Mrs. David Murray, and the late David Murray, 132 South Turner Street, Victoria, and Mr. Bertrand Marc Lavoie, R.C.N., eldest son of Mr. Leon Lavoie and the late Mrs. Leon Lavoie, of St. Jean Evangeliste, Quebec, the wedding to take place on June 22, at 8 a.m., at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Victoria.

WEDDINGS

GREEN-MITCHELL

Wives of the groom's fellow officers of the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, arranged the lovely floral decorations in St. Paul's United Church, Sidney, for the wedding Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Elsie Alexander Mitchell of Nanaimo and Capt. Denmilne Green, M.C.

The bride was given in marriage by Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., D.S.O., commanding officer of the 16th Battalion, C.E.F., in the last war, of which the groom was one of the original members. She wore a tailored ensemble of English flannel in orchid shade, and pinned to the lapel of her coat was a single orchid, tied with a bow of the regimental tartan ribbon. Her wide-brimmed leghorn hat was edged with orchid velvet and trimmed with French flowers.

Hon. Capt. the Rev. M. McInnis performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Ford, in periwinkle blue with hat to match. Maj. V. C. Dow, M.M., was best man and ushers were Capt. A. C. Forbes and Lieut. W. G. McIntosh. While the register was being signed, Mrs. Gordon Radcliffe sang "Because," with Mrs. D. M. Perley, at the organ. As the bride party left the church, brother-officers of the groom formed a guard of honor with crossed swords.

About 100 guests attended the reception held in the officers' mess, where a handsomely engraved silver tray was presented to them by Lt. Col. John MacGregor, V.C., M.C., D.C.M., officer commanding the 2nd Battalion, on behalf of the groom's fellow-officers. Col. H. M. Urquhart, D.S.O., M.C., A.D.C., proposed the health of the happy couple.

SMEDLEY-HANNAN

Traditional white was chosen by the bride at the wedding Saturday evening at 8.30 in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of Vivian Anita, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hannan, 959 Pembroke Street, and Chief Petty Officer Howard Smedley, R.C.N.V.R., only son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Smedley, Langford, V.I. Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiated.

The bride's gown was fashioned of taffeta with long flowing skirt and sweetheart neckline, and from a coronet of orange blossoms fell her sheer veil. Pink rosebuds, sweet peas and lily of the valley made up her bouquet. Miss Elsie Clarke, the bridesmaid, wore a frock of powder blue sheer with long skirt, gathered into a low waistline and for headpiece she chose a crownless Queen Anne coronet of matching net. Complementing her costume was her bouquet of sweet peas and baby blue iris. Mr. George Simmons was best man and ushers were Pte. George Bowes and Mr. George Florence.

Tall baskets of calla lilies, together with white broom and lilac sent from "Bannockburn Farm," the pioneer home of Mr. William Thomson, the bride's maternal great uncle, made a charming setting. Presiding at the organ was Mr. C. C. Warren. Mr. Hannan gave his daughter away.

A reception was held afterwards at the home of the bride's parents, the bride and groom receiving their guests standing between standards of white stocks, bridal wreath and snapdragons. They were assisted by Mrs. Hannan in a blue sheer jacket frock with light blue accessories, and Mrs. Smedley in navy blue with touches of white embroidery and pink accessories, both having corsages of pink rosebuds and lily of the valley. A cut-work lace cloth covered the refreshment table which was centred by the cake, flanked by white tapers in silver holders and cut glass vases of lily of the valley.

The couple will live in New Westminster after a short honeymoon up-island, the bride changing for the trip to a turquoise blue dress with casual hat and accessories in British tan, her topcoat being of beige tweed with fur.

CEDAR-PURSER

In the rectory of St. Andrew's Cathedral Friday evening at 8.30 the marriage was solemnized of Barbara Constance, eldest daughter of Mr. F. Gerald Purser, 2761 Burdick Avenue, and the late Mrs. Purser, and Sergeant Joseph Cedar, R.C.A.F., Patricia Bay, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cedar, Moose Jaw, Sask.

Pink snapdragons, white narcissi and iris in shades of blue were arranged in the rectory. The bride wore a powder blue floor-length frock of lace and chiffon cut on princess lines with matching low-crowned hat trimmed with pink and blue flowers. Her only ornament was a pearl cross pendant with gold chain and she carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas, rosebuds, white carnations and lily of the valley, centred with a gardenia. She was given away by her father and attended by Miss Ruth Purser, her sister, as bridesmaid, who wore a turquoise silk crepe-dress with beige picture hat trimmed in turquoise flowers, and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and sweet peas. L.A.C. William Chapman, R.C.A.F., was best man.

A small reception was held afterwards in the Princess Charlotte Room of the Empress Hotel where spring flowers were arranged. The cake centred the refreshment table, flanked by vases of lily of the valley and fern.

After a short honeymoon trip to Vancouver, the couple will live at Bradley-Dyne, Patricia Bay.

SERL-HAWKINS

At the home of the groom, 2280 Florence Street, Saturday evening at 7.45, Rev. T. H. McAllister of Gorge Presbyterian Church united in marriage Mrs. Rose May Hawkins and Mr. Ira Adam Serl. Yellow tulips and bridal wreath made an attractive setting for the ceremony, the bride wearing a smoke blue ensemble, the coat having grey fur collar, with matching accessories and a shoulder spray of roses and lily of the valley.

She was attended by Mrs. Arthur Watts as matron of honor in a dove grey costume with black accessories and a corsage of roses and sweet peas. Mr. Harold Rucker was best man.

Friends were welcomed after the ceremony. The bridal table was centred with the three-tiered cake flanked by tulips and red roses and tapers in silver holders.

After a short honeymoon on the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Serl will live at 2280 Florence Street. Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Watts and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Brown of Vancouver.

The Social Calendar

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS WELCH, of Coral Court, Simcoe Street, who today are being congratulated on their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Welch and his bride of 50 years ago, the former Ellen J. Cooper, were born in England and came out to Canada with their parents as children. They were married on May 18, 1892, and lived in Winnipeg for 21 years, before coming to Victoria to make their home 22 years ago. They belong to Christ Church Cathedral, and Mr. Welch is also active in Masonic circles, being a life member of King Edward Lodge, A.F. and A.M. Winnipeg, and of the Scottish Rite Lodge, Winnipeg, as well as a member of three Victoria lodges. They have two daughters and one son, Mrs. W. Murray, Montreal; Mrs. C. Ferris, 628 Battery Street, and John Welch, 50 Mendzie Street, Victoria, also five grandchildren.

Don't Confuse RAW Wheat Germ With "TONIK" Wheat Germ

Unless scientifically "stabilized" the embryo or "germ" of wheat rapidly deteriorates when extracted from the grain.

Ordinary wheat germ contains as much as 40% bran, and is more suitable for livestock than for human consumption. Its quality is reflected in the low price which it commands on the market. Besides being diluted with bran it deteriorates so rapidly that by the time it reaches the user it is rancid and its value is largely destroyed.

"Tonik" Wheat Germ, on the other hand, is 98% embryo, thoroughly cleaned and put through a special process that "stabilizes" it against rancidity. An added important effect of the processing is to make the valuable "B" vitamins more fully and easily assimilated into the system.

So in order to get the proper vitamin content, insist on "TONIK" Wheat Germ.

Hitler's War on U.S. Terrific Blow to Germans

Dancing, Women's Hats, Vacations, Envelopes Banned in Germany

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

LISBON (AP)—Hitler's declaration of war on the United States brought the sharpest, most sudden upward curve in rationing Germany has yet seen—giving the lie to the German propaganda ministry's claim the United States' entry into the war would be too late to affect its course.

There is perhaps no better way to demonstrate the manifest deterioration of the German economic position than to enumerate the more important restrictions we were able to cull from the German press during our internment in Bad Nauheim from the beginning of 1942 to May 7. The restrictions and regulations follow in chronological order:

Jan. 7—A decree prohibited the exhibition in show windows of goods not available in normal quantities for sale in the store. Earlier, shopkeepers had been compelled to keep their windows attractively decorated with samples to give an impression of economic plenty. All such pretense was dropped four weeks after the United States entered the war.

Jan. 7—"Feldkueche," a one-dish field kitchen meal, was made obligatory upon all restaurants for Mondays and Thursdays. The people were told it was the healthiest thing imaginable for them.

Jan. 16—Tobacco rationing was tightened with the introduction of a smokers' ration card. Women over 25 were allotted half rations and the ration for men went down to three cigarettes or one thin cigar daily in some localities, two cigarettes in other places.

FORBIDDEN

Jan. 17—Clearance sales were forbidden. The real reason: Dealers no longer had anything to "clear." The same day a drastic reduction in the number of passenger trains was announced.

Jan. 20—Merchants were warned not to make barter deals. This decree was intended to curb black market operations, some merchants preferring to barter their wares for desirable goods held by customers rather than sell them for cash.

Jan. 22—The nightly blackout hours were revised to save electric current.

Jan. 29—Restaurants were ordered to close at 10 p.m. to save current and economize on help.

Jan. 30—The ration of eggs for February was set at two a person. An inventory of potatoes in private homes was ordered with the understanding that those with reserves would not be allowed to purchase more for some time.

Jan. 31—Hat repairs, previously exempt from ration restrictions, were included in list for which clothing "points" were required.

Feb. 1—Berlin hotels were advised they should not accept guests for more than three consecutive weeks or rent rooms for office purposes. Some persons had tried to overcome the coal shortage in their homes by taking warm hotel rooms.

Feb. 11—All fairs and expositions in Germany—including the centuries-old Leipzig fair—were canceled. This was an admission that German manufacturers had nothing to offer and the transportation problem was becoming more acute.

Feb. 13—The purchase of mourning clothes was restricted to the closest relatives of the deceased.

Feb. 14—Dancing was forbidden even at private parties.

Feb. 17—Copper coins were withdrawn from circulation and cheap metal tokens substituted.

Feb. 18—The press announced that many more enterprises producing goods for civilian needs would be converted into plants producing solely for war needs. Already some 80 per cent of civilian production had been stopped.

Feb. 19—Rationing of petroleum began.

NO ENVELOPES

Feb. 20—To save paper, families corresponding with soldiers at the front were told not to use envelopes. Shoppers were urged to bring travel bags to stores to carry home their purchases.

Feb. 21—In Berlin, Breslau and other cities, seats were removed from street cars to permit the crowding of more people into already overcrowded public vehicles.

Feb. 24—Throughout the state of Hesse, and presumably in other places, special ration cards for alcoholic beverages were introduced.

Feb. 27—Butter rations were reduced to 62.5 grams (about two ounces) a person each week.

Feb. 28—The sale of women's hats was banned.

March 11—Manufacturers were told to use "ersatz" leaves for the covering of cigars.

March 6—The food ministry ordered a survey of all available truck gardening space throughout Germany.

March 7—Steel bottles used in certain industries were made subject to special permits.

March 12—Farmers were urged to be most sparing and economical in the use of seeds during the spring planting.

March 14—Clubs, societies and benevolent institutions were warned not to amass fortunes but to keep their incomes liquid and at the disposal of the country.

March 15—The collection of old and useless aluminum pots and pans was started.

March 17—Anyone applying for a special ration card was warned he could expect a visit by an official who would make certain the article was needed.

March 26—The slogan for the day was: "Plant more vegetables."

March 26—Propaganda Minister Goebbels announced production further.

Hitler Getting Ready To 'Shoot the Works'

By EDWIN SHANKE

LISBON (AP)—The current German drive in the Crimea, in the opinion of observers who have had an opportunity to study the Nazi war machine at close range, is only the prelude to an attempt at an all-out offensive for which Hitler has been preparing some 300 divisions throughout the winter.

There is strong reason to believe this effort is intended to take the form of a double-pronged drive around both sides of the Black Sea into the Middle East to gain control of oil resources and territory which might enable Germany to stand up longer economically should she be forced into a defensive war.

It seems obvious that Hitler must "shoot the works" this summer because it probably will be his last opportunity to select the time and place for an attack which he hopes may prove decisive.

With the striking power of the United Nations increasing by leaps and bounds, his prospects of maintaining the initiative in a prolonged conflict are growing correspondingly dimmer. Therefore to him it is imperative to win control of the Middle East, the Mediterranean area and at least European Russia.

MARSHAL FORCES

To meet Germany's strategic and economic needs Hitler has been marshalling his forces throughout the long winter months, while trying with a minimum expenditure of effort to hang on to his gains in Russia.

The size of the German armed forces has been increased tremendously by the winter draft, and new reserves and recruits have been put through a rigorous course of training.

The acute labor shortage now existing in Germany reflects the extent to which the Reich's manpower has been stripped to swell the army. Promotions among commissioned officers also have been unusually numerous recently—far more numerous than necessary for mere replacements.

To give troops long on active service a much-needed rest, and to permit overhauling of equipment, the Germans resorted to a plan during the winter whereby only about one-third of the forces available for duty in the east were kept at the front.

Another third was kept at some distance behind the lines where men could take life easier and still be available to back up the front in emergency, while the remainder were assigned to winter quarters at home or in occupied France. These groups were switched at various times as conditions permitted.

At the height of the Russian campaign last year the Germans used approximately 15 armies—10 infantry armies and five armored.

HOLDING FORCES

During the winter, however, Hitler used only holding forces

fitters and barterers would be punished with death.

March 31—Potatoes for planting purposes were put on the ration list.

April 3—Sunday rest for farmhands was suspended for the spring planting season.

April 5—All building permits previously issued were revoked by the Ministry of Munitions. The population was urged to put away leather shoes and use wooden shoes until late autumn.

April 12—The collection of medicinal herbs was made a patriotic duty to recompense the country for loss of overseas medicaments.

April 15—Persons over 70 were told they might obtain a little more than one-half pint of milk daily if they gave up their meat allowance of 2.2 pounds monthly.

April 16—Vacations for civil service employees and officials were generally shortened. Ten days later they were abolished completely.

April 26—The greatest economy in traveling was ordered.

April 29—Topcoats were rationed.

May 1—Labor leader Robert Ley told workers the greatest sacrifices were still ahead.

May 7—A council for munitions production was founded with the expectation of increasing war production further.

on the Finnish fronts and three armies from Leningrad to the Black Sea, supported by small tank formations. So far as known in military quarters no mechanized armies were used as such in the defensive winter campaign.

It is significant, perhaps, that Field Marshal Sigmund List, who is one of Germany's ablest military men and enjoys the special confidence of Hitler, has not figured actively in the Russian campaign of late as one might expect. Instead, he has been working quietly in the southeast.

It is common German military practice to assign a man of such marked ability to prepare and conduct a surprise thrust in a new direction.

One lively French peasant obviously had heard about our train in some manner—he stood in his field and merrily waved the Stars and Stripes.

Before the train reached Paris a bold French airman slipped aboard past the guards and rode with us for an hour.

In moving phrases he asked that the United States help to the utmost.

"You are France's last hope," he said.

Who They Are

After five months of enforced silence in Germany and Italy, several noted American correspondents have reached the neutral soil of Portugal and already have filed their first impressions of conditions in the Axis countries.

Most famous of the correspondents is LOUIS P. LOCHNER, 55, chief of the former bureau of Associated Press in Berlin.

Almost a score of years of service for the Associated Press in Germany, before and after Nazism, in peace and war, have given Lochner an extraordinary insight into the Germans, their strength and weakness and their mentality. In 1939 he was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for distinguished service in foreign correspondence in recognition for his dispatches from war-torn Germany.

Lochner's wife is a German; news dispatches do not say whether or not she is returning to the United States with him. Lochner was born in Springfield, Ill., of German extraction.

RICHARD G. MASSOCK is a veteran of 10 years as a foreign correspondent for the Associated Press and was chief of the Rome bureau from August, 1938, until Italy declared war against the United States last December.

EDWIN SHANKE joined the Associated Press in 1935 and was assigned to the Berlin bureau in 1937. He wrote his story in internment at Bad Nauheim, Germany, and carried it with him to Lisbon.

ALVIN J. STEINKOPF is also well known to Associated Press readers throughout the world. For years he has lived in Europe and knows the capitals well and intimately.

Spark of Hope Still Survives Among French

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF

LISBON (AP)—Seventy-four bedraggled citizens of the United States—diplomats, news correspondents and their families—arrived in Lisbon Saturday night after five months of internment in Germany.

They were on the first of three special trains bringing 132 United States citizens and 120 Central and South Americans from concentration points in Germany, where they had awaited completion of tedious negotiations for exchange of German diplomats and newsmen in the western hemisphere.

One hundred and twenty-five Americans already had arrived in Lisbon from Italy.

DIPLOMATIC SHIP

All are to go home on the diplomatic exchange ship Drottningholm, which docked here Saturday and began discharging 923 Germans, Italians, Bulgarians and Hungarians.

The Americans reaching here from Germany were dirty and hungry, but—mostly in good health and extremely happy. For the first time since last December they were free to move about, buy newspapers, use the telephone and eat what they wanted.

For the first time in five months they saw no pistol-toting Gestapo at their elbows, watching every step with suspicious eyes.

Their four-day journey through the Rhine Valley, France, Spain and Portugal was supervised by the Spanish border by the Gestapo, but despite the strictest of control there were numerous incidents cheering to Americans.

Occupied France—the Marne Valley, Paris, Biarritz—was found to be a land of deep emotional depression. As glimpsed by homeward-bound Americans, France was spiritually prostrate, but there were a few incidents indicating that here and there the spark of hope survived.

The French did not know that our train was a diplomatic special. South of Paris an indignant Frenchman threw a rock through a dining car window, scattering shattered glass over the tables. The trainmen said the French often did such things, on the theory that all special trains were carrying Germans.

PEASANT CHEER

One lively French peasant obviously had heard about our train in some manner—he stood in his field and merrily waved the Stars and Stripes.

Before the train reached Paris a bold French airman slipped aboard past the guards and rode with us for an hour.

People of Germany Know Hitler Shipping

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

LISBON (AP)—Hitler committed the greatest blunder of his career when he took upon himself the odium of declaring war upon the United States. That is the opinion held by those of us who lived in Germany and believe we understand German psychology.

The Fuehrer completely flabbergasted the German people.

Apparently he also so effectively stunned even his own intimate followers that propaganda minister Goebbels, hitherto a master mind of propaganda, for once failed correctly to estimate German psychology.

For weeks and months the Nazi slogan in response to unfriendly acts by the United States had been: "We won't let ourselves be provoked."

Even after Japan attacked the United States German friends in every walk of life insisted that Hitler would merely offer a declaration of solidarity with Japan but wouldn't go beyond that.

Hitler had been able to "sell" this war to the German people by claiming:

That the Poles seized the Gleiwitz radio station before German troops moved.

That Britain and France declared a state of war existed with Germany.

That British troops were on their way to Norway when, for "protection of Denmark and Norway," he sent his forces into those countries.

That Holland, Belgium, Greece and Yugoslavia plotted against Germany and were on the move when he forestalled them.

That the Russians were mobilized against Germany when at the 11th hour he parried with a counter-stroke.

The rank and file of German people—even those millions who do not approve his policies—thought the Fuehrer too "smart" ever to declare war.

President Roosevelt was presented especially as a man already in his dotage. Give him a little more rope—so the Germans were led to believe—and he would hang himself. Above all, don't play into his hands, was the watch cry. He wants war, it was said—in fact "Roosevelt is running after war"—so don't do him the favor of giving him a war.

AMAZING

And then on Dec. 11 the astounding, the amazing, the unbelievable thing happened—Hitler declared war. This was like an ice-cold shower to the German people. Their leader was slipping.

Although he had promised the "completion of the greatest victory in history during 1941," which every Teuton interpreted to mean a victorious peace after only two years of war, he now told the people to get ready for a prolonged conflict.

Incidentally this conflict to date, according to best estimates available, has meant 2,500,000 casualties for Germany, of which 750,000 are dead.

Psychologically, too, Hitler slipped.

We American journalists were guests of the Gestapo while Hitler spoke to the Reichstag Dec. 11, hence we didn't hear that oratorical effort.

We were genuinely surprised, however, when one of our guards slipped us a copy of a Berlin daily containing his text and we noted how the German dictator ended his speech not with a pen talk to fire the nation but with dire threats against saboteurs at home.

We had hitherto considered Hitler a better psychologist.

Correspondents who consider themselves acquainted with German psychology also believe it was a grave error to present the German people with the fable about the heart ailment of Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch as a Christmas gift.

Large sections of the German people look to soldiers of the old school of which von Brauchitsch a disciple of the late Col. Gen. Werner von Fritsch, was an outstanding representative, as their last hope to stave off the worst aspects of Nazi domination over an enslaved people.

Von Brauchitsch's "resignation" and Hitler's assumption of the supreme army command acted like a bombshell to put the German people in the doldrums.

REMEMBERED 1917

Besides, the older generation remembered but too well how the United States in 1917 gave the decisive turn to the first Great War.

Would history repeat itself? That was the question on millions of lips.

The answer by party spellbinders that this was a new type of war didn't seem convincing. The very fact that this is chiefly a mechanical war raised the gravest doubts of German victory in the minds of the common people in the Reich when America's participation was ensured by Hitler's war declaration. For every schoolboy in Germany knows the United States is a great mechanical power.

As if it were not enough, the talkative little Dr. Goebbels felt impelled to inject himself into the situation with two radio addresses to the German people on Dec. 20 and on Christmas Eve. If ever he struck a wrong note it was in those two speeches.

At a time when people in Germany were freezing for want of coal and when no more "real" wool was available and furs were practically unobtainable, Goebbels four days before Christmas asked the nation to give up pelts and other warm things and have them shipped to the Russian front.

German people couldn't believe their ears.

Only a few weeks previously a weekly newsreel had been brought out showing how soldiers were being furnished with everything needed for the winter.

That newsreel even then was running in thousands of smaller houses which received their film later than metropolitan theatres. Clearly, somebody somewhere was lying. Goebbels and his newsreel didn't lie.

STERN DECREE

His appeal was accompanied by a stern decree imposing the death penalty upon anybody who enriched himself by keeping warm articles given for the soldiers. Incidentally, the decree threw an interesting light on Hitler's estimate of the honesty of his subordinates, for it was they who did the collecting.

Goebbels' Christmas Eve oratorical effort showed a similar failure to gauge feelings of his compatriots correctly.

Admitting that Christmas gifts were scant and scarce this year and the traditional candles were missing because all available supplies had been sent to the Russian front, Goebbels suddenly warned the people not to forsake their leaders and the fighting troops as they had done in 1918.

It was decidedly poor psychology to remind Germans of their defeat in 1918 so soon after the declaration of war on the United States. It was even worse psychology to admit the possibility of a recurrence of 1918.

Hardly were the Christmas days over when a further blow to German morale was delivered by the Reich's sports leader who urged every patriot to surrender his skis.

Only 376,000 pairs of skis were donated as a result of this appeal to a country extremely fond of the sport.

From early 1942 and until our departure in mid-May one depressing fact after another was revealed to the German people by Hitler and his lieutenants.

The Ukraine, according to the German press on Feb. 25, wouldn't yield tangible agricultural results until 1943. Before the Russian campaign even German had been led to believe that grain and other raw materials would pour in from the Ukraine from the moment of its conquest.

Speaking on the German Memorial Day, March 16, Hitler told his people the Russians definitely would be beaten this summer.

A month and 10 days later in an address to the Reichstag he promised that German transportation in the east would be better next winter than last. This was a wet blanket for millions of Germans and seemed to indicate Hitler expects to face another Russian winter.

The Reichstag speech was a blunder in another way: It revealed even to the most obtuse how far all personal liberty had gone and how one man abrogated not only all legislative and executive powers but even all judicial prerogatives to himself.

Even annual vacations would be taken from them at the Fuehrer's demand. As though to rub this fact in Reich's labor leader Robert Ley in a May-day proclamation demanded more work, more sweat, more effort.

Disillusioned Italy Fights Unpopular War

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

LISBON (AP)—Mussolini is leading a hungry, disillusioned and apathetic Italy in an unpopular war.

The war's unpopularity has been manifest in various ways to Americans who waited five months for repatriation after the Duce of Fascism uttered the fateful words that placed his people at war with the United States last Dec. 11.

Italy's future as an ally of Germany and Japan is unpredictable.

A collapse from a food shortage within this year or the next seems unlikely. Neither does an economic breakdown seem imminent. Because of assistance being given by Germany in this sphere.

Without any organized opposition under competent leadership, the Fascist regime probably is secure for some time to come.

UNPOPULAR

Yet the war against the United States is unpopular and some observers see in Italy a people who dislike their German allies and who care nothing for the Japanese.

In fact some say that half the Italian people now would welcome an Allied invasion of Europe as a possible means of freeing them from the humiliating grip held by the Germans.

Not a single anti-American demonstration—even an officially organized one—has been reported in Italy. Many Italians in all walks of life have sought on occasion to tell Americans of their personal friendship. We were regarded as only nominal or friendly enemies.

Italians await a new leader. Discontent with Mussolini and his Fascism is more marked than ever.

Il Duce made his war declaration against the United States in the name of King Victor Emmanuel. While the monarch may still be respected by his people, many Italians said this showed many wins, we will be lost.

once again that the senile little man is important in politics.

UMBERTO

Little hope rests in Crown Prince Umberto. Yet Umberto, once the white hope of anti-Fascists because of his reputed hostility towards Mussolini, appears to have made his peace with Fascism.

Red Cross Ready For Events Here

Since Japan entered the war, the Canadian Red Cross Society has built up reserves of all types of Red Cross supplies, including civilian garments, as well as the usual reserves of hospital and surgical supplies stored here for some years by the British Columbia division, according to a statement from G. C. Derby, president. The action has been taken in view of the possibility of attack on this coast.

Provincial sub-depots have been created at four different points where quantities of supplies are held for distribution within the general area of the depot itself.

The position of the Canadian Red Cross Society in civilian protection work is recognized by the Provincial Civilian Protection Committee, and the fullest co-operation exists between the provincial authorities and the Red Cross.

The Red Cross Society has already supplied approximately 240 first aid posts with complete medical supply kits containing a wide variety of medical and first aid supplies, and in addition portable surgical dressing units containing every type of surgical dressing. To complete the equipment, 10 blankets are supplied to each post.

The society has been given responsibilities in civilian protection work parallel to those assumed by the Red Cross in peacetime disaster relief work. The society's duties will include the provision of emergency feeding arrangements, temporary shelter, clothing and medical aid.

SEED GROWERS

B.C. Seed Growers' Association will meet in the Institute Hall at Royal Oak, Thursday night at 8.

Hopes Ottawa Acts In Labor Problem

B.C. farmers would be quite happy if they knew they could obtain labor this summer, Hon. Dr. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, said today on his return from a trip to the interior.

"Everything is pretty good in the interior," the minister said. "The farmers, of course, have some worries, but mostly about labor. The labor situation on the land is becoming serious. I think Ottawa will have to do something about it, and I think Ottawa has it in mind to do something. They are the only people who have the power; we can only act voluntarily and that sort of effort falls by the wayside too often."

Generally, Dr. MacDonald said, agricultural and stock prospects are good for the coming season.

Helps Red Cross

The air force did its bit to help the Red Cross drive for funds Friday when 200 officers and airmen of R.C.A.F. and R.A.F. units at Patricia Bay staged a ceremonial parade through downtown Victoria.

The parade, headed by the R.C.A.F. under Bandmaster A. E. Tuttle, lined up at the Empress Hotel at 2, and under the command of Sqdn. Ldr. H. A. Austin marched around the Parliament Buildings, down Douglas to Yates and returned to Western Air Command headquarters via Blanshard, View and Government.

Considerable attention was attracted by the smart marching and large crowds gathered at Blanshard and Yates outside the Public Library and again at View and Douglas where halts were made and brief concerts given by the band.

Busy Fingers Aid British Homeless

More than 900,000 members of the Junior Red Cross in 30,000 schools from Victoria to Halifax are helping to provide clothes, food and comforts for British children as part of their Junior Red Cross "Good Citizenship" program. This junior miss sews while her brother may be making splints or collecting salvage materials. In addition to war work Red Cross juniors aided 1,544 crippled children in Canada last year.

BONUS CHANGE

Possibility that the city's proposed cost of living bonus scheme might be revised, at least to avoid loss of 50 cents a month by certain lower paid staff members, was seen in City Hall quarters today prior to the meeting of the City Council.

Unfavorable reaction to the move which cut last year's bonus of $5.50 a month to $5 in certain cases was expected to result in the revision.

Routine matters were listed for the council session. Among them was a report from the health and welfare committee recommending payment of $875 to the Children's Aid Society to assist it in continuing its services in connection with the Juvenile Court.

Carload of Rubber To Be Shipped East

Twenty tons of rubber, in the form of old automobile and truck tires, rubber shoes, tubing, hot water bottles and inner tubes, are packed tightly in a freight car at the E and N. freight depot waiting shipment to Toronto, where they will be processed for vital war uses.

Thirty boys, many of them Scouts, under the direction of H. A. Pease of the B.C. Salvage Corps, worked Saturday loading four trucks of the valuable material.

The shipment will go to the Fairmont Rubber Company in Toronto, which is government controlled. It is the second freight carload which has been sent from this province, and the first from this city.

Approximately 1,400 tires, both from automobiles and trucks, were included in the load. It has been collected from Victoria, and other outside points, including Sooke, Sidney and up-island.

The freight car will leave Victoria early next week.

Mr. Pease is pleased with the results of the campaign, and said that there are many more tons of the much-wanted material.

"We know there are many more old tires to be salvaged," he said, "and we are out to get them."

Mark Anniversary

The anniversary of its founding was marked Friday evening by the Chinese Presbyterian Mission Church, when Chinese members and their Canadian friends celebrated the enlargement and remodeling of the building at the corner of Blanshard and North Park Streets.

Rev. M. Fleming, who has been in charge of the congregation for 30 years, received letters and telegram of greeting from all parts of Canada and the United States.

The service was attended by Rev. J. Lewis W. McLean, moderator of the Victoria Presbytery; Rev. Thomas McAllister, moderator of the Presbyterian Synod, and Rev. David Smith, Vancouver, superintendent of missions.

Langford

Mrs. R. H. McInnes, head of the Parent-Teacher Association in Victoria, accompanied by Mesdames W. Blair and C. Peters, were guests at the monthly meeting of the Langford Parent-Teacher Association. Donations were voted toward Queen Alexandra Solarium and the Red Cross. Mrs. McInnes, delegate to the recent P.T.A. convention in Vancouver gave a resume of the highlights. A symposium on "What Is a Well-educated Child?" was enjoyed, with extemporaneous talks by Mrs. E. M. Oakley, Miss E. N. Hincks, Gunner C. N. Welch, Rev. P. J. Disney, Miss R. Corbuit, R.N., and Ritchie Le Quesne.

Mrs. B. Deane-Freeman presided at an executive meeting of the women's auxiliary to the Prince Edward Branch, Canadian Legion. Plans were made for a tea and sale in the hall June 17. Mrs. A. G. MacKie, war work convener, reported sending 980 garments in the past 15 months for "Bundles for Britain" from Legion members and friends. Comforts and woolies were sent to troops in the east.

Street Dance Planned For May 23 Canceled

Cancellation of the street dance planned for Saturday, May 23, by the May 24 celebration committee, headed by Ald. W. H. Davies, was announced today by the committee's executive.

Other items in the celebration, a band concert in Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon and the school pageant, vaudeville show and A.R.P. demonstration in Macdonald Park, May 25, will be carried out as announced.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT
JOHNS-MANVILLEPUZZLING QUESTION HAS SIMPLE ANSWER

One thing that has puzzled your J-M reporter, since learning about different kinds of building materials, is why people are satisfied with side-walks which by their nature are bound to wear out and need replacing. The only answer seems to be the simple one... many people still haven't discovered Johns-Manville's amazing new Cedargrain Asbestos Siding Shingles.

J-M Cedargrains, made of asbestos and portland cement, are fireproof, as permanent as stone, and cost no more than ordinary siding materials. In addition, they never need painting to preserve them—and because of that fact alone, could be called by far the most economical in the long run. On top of all other advantages, these shingles have the beautiful grain of old, weathered wood, with attractive wavy butts. For interesting free literature on "Cedargrains" just call your J-M dealer, V.I. Hardywood Floor Company, 707 Johnson Street, G 7314.

Wm. A. Jameson,
Pioneer, Passes

LATE W. A. JAMESON

William Alexander Jameson, pioneer businessman and founder of the well-known coffee firm which bears his name, died this morning at his home, 1001 Foul Bay Road, after a long illness.

Mr. Jameson was born in Whitby, Ontario, in November, 1870, and came to Victoria in 1888. His father, the late Robert Hamilton Jameson, preceded his family here in 1887, and in the following year the W. A. Jameson Coffee Co., wholesale and manufacturing business dealing in tea, coffee and spices, was established on Broughton Street, and has been carried on ever since.

ATTENDED R.M.C.

Mr. Jameson was among the earliest cadets at Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., his number having been 284. Prior to going to Kingston, he had graduated from Whitby Collegiate. He continued his military activities on arriving in Victoria and joined the Fifth Regiment. He served as a captain when Lt.-Col. E. G. Prior was O.C. One of his corporals was Arthur Currie, who in the first Great War rose to command the Canadian Army and was knighted by the King.

Mr. Jameson was one of the pioneers of the Sooke district. He pre-empted a quarter section there half a century ago and the River Road is often spoken of as Jameson Road.

His Scottish ancestry was reflected in Mr. Jameson's long and active association with the Burns Club of which he was a former president, and in his devoted work for both Knox and St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of which he was an elder.

Before failing health curtailed many of his activities, Mr. Jameson had taken a keen interest in community affairs, being a member of the Oak Bay Council in 1916 and 1917, and a former member of the Board of Trade, and at one time a vice-chairman of the B.C. Manufacturers' Association. He had been for many years an active member of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors, and of the Canadian Club.

He is survived by his widow, Mary McCoy Jameson; three brothers, Caron B. and John B., who are associated with him in the business here, and Gordon C., who has charge of the Vancouver branch of the business, and three sisters, Mrs. H. L. G. Austin, Sooke; Mrs. C. J. McRae, Victoria, and Mrs. J. W. Turnbull, Australia.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon, leaving the family residence at 3 for St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, where Rev. J. L. W. McLean will conduct service at 3.30. Interment at Ross Bay. Sands Mortuary have charge of the arrangements.

The Telephone Situation
Is Serious

Operating under Government regulations, we are now drastically curtailing the installation of telephones. It is hardly necessary to go into details as to why the Government finds this restriction necessary. It is a story that is daily becoming more familiar to the Canadian people as they move steadily toward the "total war" which is necessary if we are to win.

By limiting the growth of our telephone system, we use less of the materials that are urgently needed for the war effort. By not asking the factories to make things for non-essential telephone service, we allow the workers and machines to spend more time in making things for war.

Naturally, a company which has built up its system until the ratio of telephones to population is the highest in any province of Canada regrets exceedingly that after advertising for years the advantages of the telephone it must refuse service to hundreds of people who desire it; but this is just one more sacrifice that must be made on the road to victory.

We have only a limited number of telephones left, and the shipments from the factory have almost ceased. We must conserve this supply of telephones to take care of essential services during whatever number of years the war lasts. The time may not be far distant when we will have to take out some non-essential telephones now in service. Extension telephones would probably be the first to be removed.

Our supply of wire and other materials is limited, and must be used for essential telephone service. Switchboards and automatic equipment are also becoming a problem. Telephones have been rapidly increasing in number; people have been telephoning more often; and conversations have become longer. All of these factors have created an increasingly large amount of telephone traffic, but it is now very difficult to make additions to switchboards and automatic equipment in order to handle this load. In several cases the buildings themselves are reaching the limit of their capacity, and we are not permitted to embark on any construction made necessary by non-essential telephoning.

What all of this means is that we must very largely get along with what we have for the duration of the war. In order that essential telephones may be served we must refuse service to a great many people; and we must go further than this and ask the public to use their telephones less and to make their conversations shorter.

In its Order No. 119 regulating telephone service, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board declares that "steel, copper, brass, rubber, zinc, nickel, tin and many of the other materials necessary to provide and maintain telephone service have, due to the exigencies of war, become so scarce as to require the rigid conservation of all existing stocks of such materials."

The order compels our Company to conserve our plant, equipment and facilities, and says that we are to provide service in the following order of priority:

1. Essential requirements of the armed services, producers of munitions and supplies of war and defence projects of governmental and other services and agencies related to the war programme or to the defence of Canada.
2. Requirements essential for the welfare of civil life in the community and the protection of public health and safety.
3. Other essential commercial and industrial requirements.
4. Other requirements.

Obviously the task of allocating the available facilities with a view to serving those most requiring telephone service is a difficult and unpleasant one. We can only say that we will endeavor to carry it out to the best of our ability.

We appreciate immensely the understanding way in which the people generally have accepted the new regulations in regard to telephone service, and we urge everyone who is contemplating any telephone move or installation to make inquiries about these regulations before making definite plans, in order to avoid later disappointment.

WORK OF MARINES
IN ACTION FILM

The story of the U.S. Marine Corps and what it takes to turn out a "leatherneck" has been brought to the screen in 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor epic, "To the Shores of Tripoli," which opens today at the Capitol Theatre to cheering crowds.

The Darryl F. Zanuck production is made to order for every patriotic, individual, and is a credit to those men who fought their way to glorious posterity at Wake Island.

There is nothing more heroically traditional than the spirit of the marines, and "To the Shores of Tripoli" shows us what makes them that way.

The acting by Payne, Miss O'Hara and Scott leaves nothing to be desired and the rest of the cast which includes such top performers as Nancy Kelly, William Tracy, Maxie Rosenbloom, Henry Morgan, Edmund MacDonald, Russell Hicks and Minor Watson is first-rate.

'JENNIE' SHOWING ON RIO SCREEN

The featured cast of "Jennie," the 20th Century-Fox film at the Rio Theatre, boasts a true Spartan in the person of Joan Valerie, whose radiant Grecian beauty won her a long-term screen contract.

After training in the 20th Century-Fox studio stock school, Joan was given small roles in pictures. With more experience she graduated into fine featured roles. Her latest role in "Jennie," currently at the Rio Theatre, is her most demanding to date.

Joan Valerie is featured in a fine cast, which is headed by Virginia Gilmore and includes William Henry, George Montgomery, Ludwig Stossel, Dorris Bowden, Rand Brooks and Rita Quigley.

FILM MUSICAL SMASH HIT

It was about two generations ago that blues music broke through the limits of southern levees and plantations, where it was born among the darkies, to quickly become the new rhythmic rage.

The first bands stored up the torrid blue notes in their saxophones, clarinets, trumpets, and everywhere they traveled they served them up piping hot, with an insistence that could not be denied.

That is the story told jubilantly, joyfully, in Paramount's new musical, "Birth of the Blues," which is currently at the Cadet Theatre, with Bing Crosby, Mary Martin, Brian Donlevy, Carolyn Lee, Jack Teagarden, the orchestra leader, and Rochester.

'DANCING CO-ED'
YORK FEATURE

Like Young Lochinvar, Artie Shaw is coming out of the west—but with added glory for the nation's "king of swing." For he is fresh from crashing the movies, having made his screen debut with his band in "Dancing Co-Ed," which is to be shown starting today at the York Theatre, and in which he appears with dancing Lana Turner and Richard Carlson.

The maestro's current "swing" around the country is his first since he turned "double-threat"—movie fan appeal, now having been added to his record of smashing all-time high marks with record attendance. At southern California's famed Palomar, Shaw's four-week engagement was extended to 10 weeks, with a weekly average of 17,000.

As the band leader who heads the search for a dancing co-ed in the new picture, Shaw brings the tunes which earned him the title of "swing king" of the jitterbug to a motion picture audience. He plays "Back Bay Shuffle," "At Sundown," "I'm Yours," and his famous theme song, "Nightmare."

'TWIN BEDS'
GAY FARCE

A slick-comedy cast, headed by such luminaries as Joan Bennett, George Brent, Mischa Auer, Glenda Farrell, Ernest Truex and Una Merkel, is responsible for the gayety, fun and hilarity which highlight the swift-moving action of the new Edward Small production, "Twin Beds," which is slated for its local premiere at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres today through United Artists release.

Based on the Broadway hit farce of the 1916-17 theatrical season, "Twin Beds" was transferred to the screen under the directorial baton of Tim Whelan, who previously directed "International Lady" for the Small studios. It tells a laugh-getting story of a young married couple, consisting of Miss Bennett and Mr. Brent, who become involved in a whole series of crazy complications because the heroine goes about daffily doing good deeds where they always have the worst possible effect.

GENE TIERNEY AT DOMINION

A man may be judged by the company he keeps, and a Hollywood screen star can be judged by the female company he keeps in the various pictures he has appeared in.

Henry Fonda, who is co-starred with Gene Tierney in 20th Century-Fox's "Rings On Her Fingers" coming to the Dominion Theatre tomorrow is one actor who has been co-featured with the cream of Hollywood actresses.

A list containing the names of such glamorous creatures as Claudette Colbert, Margaret Sullavan, Barbara Stanwyck, Sylvia Sydney, Bette Davis, Madeline Carroll, Irene Dunne, Alice Faye, and Dorothy Lamour is extremely impressive as far as Henry Fonda is concerned, since he has appeared with all of these charmers.

Attention Wins Metropolitan

NEW YORK (AP) — Chalking up his first victory since his upset over Whirlaway last July, Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention turned on the heat in the stretch Saturday to win the Metropolitan Mile at Belmont Park.

All records for New York betting for a single day were shattered when $1,899,607 was poured into the mutuel machines during the eight-race card.

Under the top weight of 126 pounds and neatly handled by Don Meade, Attention tired a bit just at the end, but he had enough edge to hold off Pictor, owned by W. L. Brann, and Market Wise, from Lou Tufano's barn. They finished heads apart in that order behind him.

Results follow:

First race—Five furlongs:
Stalania (Green) — $4.80 $ 2.60 $2.70
Spartita (Acero) — 10.00 4.40
Shannon (Lorden) — 1.50 1.50

Seagram Silks Will Be Absent

TORONTO (CP) — Famed black and yellow silks of the Seagram Stable, Canada's oldest racing establishment, will be missing from the 83rd renewal of the King's Plate at Woodbine Saturday for the first time in the stable's half-century of participation in the classic.

Court Gallant, only Seagram entry this year, was declared out of the race by J. E. Frowde Seagram, present owner and grandson of the stable's founder, Joseph E. Seagram. Seagram said it was impossible to obtain another three-year-old to race under the stable banner.

Court Gallant, unsexed son of Thruster and Sally Fuller, pulled a tendon and trainer Jack Thorpe had to let up on his training.

Since Victorious brought the first Seagram plate victory in 1891, Seagram horses have scored 19 plate victories, the last one by Sally Fuller in 1935.

Morris Duffy Here

Victoria's rapidly-growing hockey family was further added to over the week-end with the arrival in town of Morris Duffy, star left winger last season with the Trail Smoke Eaters. Weighing around 185 pounds, Duffy is a high-scoring forward, having finished second in the season's aggregate last season in the highly-rated A.B.C. League.

Duffy was accompanied by his wife and two children and will make his home here.

Byron Nelson Wins

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Byron Nelson, winner of this year's Masters' tournament, produced mechanically perfect golf Saturday to put together a five-under-par 67 and a regulation 72 in winning the second annual Massachusetts big eight golf tournament.

Nelson's 139 total for the 36 holes of medal play for the benefit of the United States Relief Society was one stroke better than his nearest competitor. Open champion Craig Wood and little Ben Hogan, pretournament public choice, were deadlocked for the second place with totals of 140.

Nearly two tons of nicotine per year, extracted from many more tons of tobacco plants, are sold to the oil industry as an active ingredient in insect sprays.

Airmen's Mustache Race Ends

Padre E. W. L. May started a dozen English airmen in a race for hirsute fame when he sponsored a whisker-growing race with entry fees going to the fund for bombed victims of England.

Top, the padre dons a temporary mustache as with footrule in hand he lines up the contestants. Second picture, he measures the impressive growth of a justly proud competitor.

Lower, the proud champion! Lone Canadian entry, A.C. Earl Macdonald of Newark, Ont. Winner over 10 entries in an exciting six-week competition.

Posting a net score of 148 for the 36 holes, Ernie Brachat won the Maynard Cup at the Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday. One stroke more, in second place, was F. Wakeham, while A. Juriloff took third with 152.

In the semifinals of the women's competition for the Hodges Cup Mrs. C. N. High defeated Miss D. Grubb 2 and 1 and Miss L. Jarvis beat Mrs. J. Fanthorpe 3 and 1.

Members of the Vancouver Island Philatelic Society at their meeting Thursday heard Dr. J. A. Pearce, vice-president, speak on the development of the postal registration system in Canada during the last 150 years. A series of scarce old covers was shown, as well as his fine collection of Canadian registration stamps. C. Sonne of Saskatoon, the leading authority on Canadian precanceled stamps, was a guest.

By PETE SALLAWAY

ALTHOUGH another hockey campaign is over four months away we hear of plans for next season in the Coast League already being made. There is a strong movement for the Victoria team, which played under the name of Bapcos its first season, to be taken under the wing of the Victoria Machinery Depot. The squad, so we have been told, will be backed by the sports and social club of the shipyard, which already is playing a prominent part in local athletic activities, with football, baseball and softball teams on the field.

Definite decision as to whether or not the V.M.D. will take over the club is expected within a short time. No doubt the shipyard club feels a desire to get into the hockey field along with another Vancouver shipbuilding concern, backers of the Norvans in the coast ice circuit. After all, majority of the local hockey players are employed at the V.M.D. In the meantime the local hockey fold has been well bolstered by the recent arrival in town of Tony and Pete Loswick, prominent hockey playing brothers from Saskatoon.

Our note in the column Friday telling of the arrival in town of the former Edmonton Grad, Babe Daniels, now Mrs. Ralph Morgan, has brought forth the information that another of the former players with the famous basketball team, Helen Northup, now Mrs. Harry Alexander, is residing here. Mrs. Alexander has arrived with her husband, a member of the Canadian naval forces. Just a couple of more and Victoria would be able to field a basketball team of former Grads.

At the outset, William Malcolm Dickey at six feet two generally was considered too tall for a catcher. Some pitchers thought he stood too high to be a good target.

Victoria Bowlers Win

Nelson All-Events Champ

VANCOUVER (CP) — Andy Nelson of Watson's of Victoria won the Class A all-events of the second annual Evergreen Ten Pin Bowling Tournament with an aggregate of 1,732, one pin better than Buck Marshall of New Westminster, whose 1,791 had held the lead for the last several days. Nelson had 582 in the team event, 616 in his doubles and 594 in his singles.

Paired with Mollie Mapes of Victoria, he took third place in the Class A doubles with a score of 1,150 and his 594 singles was good enough for eighth place in the Class A singles.

Harry Hoiness of Victoria won

Eric Hibberson Uplands Champ

Eric Hibberson retained the men's championship of the Uplands Golf Club, Sunday, defeating Frank Jeffrey 11 and 9 in the scheduled 36-hole final. Jeffrey experienced great trouble off the tees, giving the defending champion plenty of opportunity to capitalize on his mistakes. Hibberson was one over par for the 27 holes.

In the Red Cross putting competition staged by the women members, the sum of $33 was realized. Mrs. E. Jackson and Mrs. I. South headed the women, and G. A. Pattinson and F. Jeffrey the men. In the long-driving competition, Eric Hibberson and N. G. Florencia were the winners, with R. Stranix and Hugh McKenzie taking the prizes in the approaching.

Flight results follow:
First Flight
Ed. Cuppage defeated Vic. Lea 2 and 1.

Second Flight
J. D. Ferguson defeated J. Jeffrey 3 and 2.

Third Flight
R. Williams defeated H. Stancombe 3 and 2.

Fourth Flight
R. Howard defeated R. Stranix 4 and 3.

Fifth Flight
J. G. Chanter defeated B. H. Aarson 2 up.

Sixth Flight
S. J. Thomson defeated A. N. Clarke 4 and 3.

ANNUAL MEETING

Annual meeting of the Colwood Golf Club will be held Wednesday night at 7. In the afternoon a handicap tournament will be played, followed by a prize-giving and dinner in the clubhouse.

Five feet 10 is regarded as the ideal height for a backstop.

It was suspected that the catching squat would be tough wear out a receiver towering into the air as high as Bill Dickey. Yet trainer Earl Painter traces the Little Rock Larruper's athletic longevity to his long, supple muscles.

The New York Yankee bone bender points out that the leg muscles of many stocky catchers knot up after a few years.

Outside of the better heavyweights, the late Tex Rickard didn't know one fighter from another.

The great promoter bumped into Bud Taylor on a train the day after the Terre Haute Terror had turned in a phenomenal performance at Madison Square Garden.

"Hello, Mr. Rickard!" beamed Taylor, thrilled to meet the master showman.

"Hello, kid," replied Rickard, not recognizing the finest bantamweight in the world who had just filled the house he built on Eighth Avenue.

Larry MacPhail, who so quickly took the Brooklyn club out of the red, is that way to a certain extent, according to Jimmy Wasdell.

"Although I was with the Dodgers two years, I don't believe MacPhail knew me without my number," explains the Pittsburgh outfielder. "Once I was in a hotel lobby talking with Hugh Casey, when MacPhail breezed by and said: 'Hello, kid.' 'He didn't know me.'"

Sammy Byrd, who quit as a major league outfielder to be a golf professional and who bagged his first major tournament during the winter, insists ball players are wrong—that it is harder to keep your eye on a stationary ball than a moving one. "But at least I can see the golf ball," smiles Byrd, "which was more than I could do when I was facing Lefty Grove."

The Class B singles with 606, 18 pins better than the former leader, Milton Wallace of New Westminster.

Jack Caddell and Andy Morgan of Victoria won ninth place in the Class B doubles with a score of 1,065 while another Victoria pair, Bill Sturken and Bob Turner, won 13th money with a score of 1,043.

Albert Anderson and Art Manson of Victoria tied for 17th and 18th place in the Class A singles event with 577's. George Robert, son of Victoria took seventh money in the Class B singles with 563 and Bob Turner ninth money with 553.

Black, Wood Share Honors

VANCOUVER (CP) — Marvin Bud Ward, U.S. amateur golf champion and another Spokane golfer star, Neil Christian, ended up all even in a war charity golf exhibition against Ken Black, Canadian amateur champion, and Fred Wood, B.C. open champ, here Sunday.

It was estimated the match netted almost $1,500 for the Queen's Canadian Fund.

Black turned in a three-under par 69 for the best card in the match play exhibition, followed by Ward with 70, Wood with a 72 and Christian with a 73.

Ward and Christian were 1 up on the 18th tee but each took five's against four's for Wood and Black to end the match all square. Christian missed a two-foot putt on the last green that would have given him and Ward the game.

No Night Baseball In New York Parks

NEW YORK (AP) — Drastic new regulations affecting New York's night lighting—among them one which in all likelihood would eliminate night baseball—were ordered Sunday in a move to control the dangerous silhouetting of ships at sea.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, acting with the approval of the army and navy, ordered into effect tonight a dim-out program which for the first time will screen all floodlighting in railroad yards, manufacturing plants, shipyards, docks and terminals. Asked if this would eliminate night baseball, the mayor replied: "I guess so."

Jokers Get Tie, Utke Stars

Clarence Utke might have been a hero Saturday night, at least as far as the Jokers were concerned, had not the United Services come through in the last five minutes to knot the score at 14 to 14.

Jokers and Services met in the fourth game of the current lacrosse season at the Sports Centre, Saturday, and gave a fair size crowd plenty to howl over. In the first 60 minutes of play Jokers checked the highly-favored services team to a standstill to force the game into overtime as the score stood at 9 to 9.

The teams played five minutes each way and that's where Mr. Utke came in. During regulation time this same player had been pounding up and down the floor in true lone ranger style, under the mistaken impression that the goal was in three places, the left and right corners of the box and up in the end seats.

Manager Jimmie Smith put him wise before the start of overtime with the result that Utke zoomed in on service's goalie, Jimmie Ryan, to score four goals in less than four minutes. Ken "Soup" Calverly got the fifth of Jokers' five overtime markers.

Then, with five more minutes of extra play left, Jackie James and Jimmie Pickford, two smallest men on the United Services, proved to Utke, his team mates and Manager Smith that life even in boxes, held a more sordid side.

DEADLOCK SCORE
The teams changed ends and Doug Caydzen went in to score all by his lonesome from the face off. Then James took a pass from Doug Bray to outsmart Goalie Bill Andrews. Pickford followed this up with a couple of express train specials. That mighty mite, James, again snaked to the edge of the crease to fool the Joker goalie a minute before time.

That last five minutes was really rough, boys on both sides forgetting that such a thing as a lacrosse rule book was ever written. Jimmie Smith complained bitterly of the refereeing during that time, when not one penalty was called. In fact he stated that his team would not come out on the floor again unless the referees were presented with 1942 rule books and ordered to read them. He said every man on his team was hurt in one way or another.

SERVICES LEAD
During the tamer regulation time Services took a 3 to 2 lead at the end of the first quarter and stretched it to 8 to 5 at the half. Jokers came out after the 10 minute rest and for the next two periods gave a demonstration of really effective checking. They scored two goals in each of the next two periods while holding their opponents to one.

Utke was their top man with six markers. Pickford with four, and James and Caydzen with three apiece led the Services' crew. Goalie Bill Andrews was shining as usual, and had it not been for him it is doubtful if Jokers could have made it a tie game. Jimmie Ryan, highly-touted Services goalie, did not quite live up to advance notices, but nevertheless pulled off some great saves. Bjornjolfson and Cochran refereed.

Next game is Tuesday night when Services tangle with Chief Gussie's Douglas Tire clan.

Chuck Wiggins Takes Last Count

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Charles (Chuck) Wiggins, playboy of the prize ring in the Roaring 20s, took his last count of 10 Sunday in hospital, dying of a skull fracture received in a stairway fall.

Wiggins, 44, was regarded by many fight followers as a potential world heavyweight champion, if he had trained seriously. Jack Dempsey was said to have called him "the greatest street fighter that ever lived."

But Chuck always would rather "throw a party than prepare for any fight."

Chuck started his ring career in 1919. His series of meetings with Harry Greb were ring classics of their kind. Wiggins and Greb did everything the Marquis of Queensbury frowned upon—clawing, butting and heeling but neither complained to the referee.

Wiggins helped train Gene Tunney for the second Dempsey-Tunney fight and gave him some of the hardest workouts of his career.

Two Great Fighters

Lulu Costantino, foreground, pride of New York and Chalky Wright, Los Angeles, recognized in New York as featherweight champion, will meet soon in a title match. In a recent nontitle affair Wright took the decision to bring an end to Costantino's long string of ring triumphs.

V.M.D. Wins Cup Soccer

Whips United 5 to 1

What promised to be one of the soccer attractions of the season Saturday turned into a rout when Victoria Machinery Depot whipped Victoria United 5 to 1 in the local final of the provincial cup series. Victory earned the shipyarders entry into the semifinals along with the Vancouver survivors.

United played under the handicap of some mighty poor goal tending on the part of Reeves. The big fellow showed a disliking for low shots and three of the V.M.D. goals could easily have been turned aside. On top of that the Coast League club lost the services of Hurd, their starting inside right, after two minutes of play when the R.A.F. player injured a cartilage when brought down.

Making his first appearance on the soccer field in nearly three years George Payne, outside left, was the offensive star of the V.M.D. with two goals and a like number of assists. He gave a smart exhibition considering the long period of inactivity.

Playing with the advantage of a strong wind and the sur the V.M.D. lost no time going to the offensive. The game was held up momentarily while Hurd was assisted from the field to be replaced by Hayward. Opening goal came right after. Payne taking a long shot from the left wing and Reeves standing by to watch it catch the far corner of the net.

Welcome Gas Rationing

Swells Ball Crowds

By SCOTT YOUNG
TORONTO (CP) — Rationing has been blamed or praised for a great many things since the word became part of our daily speech, but most of the approbation has been of the buck-up-old-fellow-this-is-war variety.

Here's something new and different: Baseball officials in Halifax, speaking strictly without tongues in cheeks, say gasoline rationing is the greatest thing to happen to baseball since the curve ball. The first rationing brought greatly-increased attendance to the city league and crowds have been growing since.

If that's so, announcement last week that the Maritimes' basic ration had been cut to two gallons weekly must have filled the old cups of joy to overflowing. Lou (Halifax Chronicle) Zwelling suggested when the two gallon news broke that the league make oil controller George R. Cottrell its honorary president.

SUBBURY AFTER STARS
Johnny (Winnipeg Tribune) Buss writes that Bill Gooden Wally Stefanie, Portage la Prairie junior hockey stars, are dicker with Subbury hockey interests. "Johnny" adds: "Does this mean Max Silverman and Co. are figuring on another O.H.A. Memorial Cup contended for 1942-43?"

Richmond Farmers, Canadian senior lacrosse finalists last year, may be hot stuff again this season. The franchise has been taken over by a shipyard company and the club will be called the Wallaceas, after the yard owner. A contender for the spot held by Joey in western race fans' hearts is J. N. Pitts' Wilkie, Alberta Derby winner

Dashing Dodgers Sweep Two Games With Chicago

Pitzer and Nex Play Army Nine

Two winless clubs of the senior ball league will tangle tonight at the Athletic Park with Pitzer and Nex tackling the Army at 6.30. The former have dropped their only game played, while the soldiers have had two defeats tacked on to their record. Winner tonight will vacate the cellar.

Victoria Machinery Depot made it three straight victories Saturday night with a 10 to 1 decision over the Eagles. For four innings the clubs put on a nip-and-tuck exhibition, but after the V.M.D. grabbed off a couple of unearned runs in the fifth the Eagles were badly out of the picture the remainder of the evening. V.M.D. climaxed affairs with a six-run scoring spurge in the seventh and added one more run for good measure in the eighth, at which point the game was called.

Southpaw Stan Curry turned in a smart mound performance for the Eagles for six innings. He held the V.M.D. to three hits and would have been all even with his opposition but for a couple of errors that gave the shipyarders those two runs in the fifth. Curry yanked himself in the seventh owing to a sore flipper. Bilsky, a new pitcher with the Eagles, took over, but failed to finish out the inning owing to his inability to locate the plate. He issued two walks, hit a batter and committed a balk. Scroggs was the third hurler to work for the lodgement.

GOALIE STARS

United worked desperately to reduce the margin as the second half opened, but found Woodbridge in the V.M.D. goal a tough problem. The R.A.F. goalkeeper turned in a sterling exhibition as the United forwards poured shot after shot at him. He was agile as a cat and his great saves drew applause from the spectators.

V.M.D. went four goals up when Parks drove home a penalty shot awarded against Leggett for hands. Their fifth goal came off the back of Harvey on a pass from Payne. It was another low shot that Reeves should have handled.

With only minutes remaining Noel Morgan saved the United from a shutout, beating Woodbridge with a daisy-cutter on a cross from Huggins on the right wing.

Before the game opened players and spectators observed a minute silence in tribute to Fred Oliver, well-known soccer official, who passed away last week. Danny Glancy refereed.

Large Entry for Gymkhana Events

Every event at the Kinsmen Club's gymkhana at the Willows, May 25, will provide large fields, as entries are now pouring in. A large shipment of ponies from the Duncan district will be brought down to the one-day meet.

Total proceeds will go to the Kinsmen "Milk for Britain Fund."

At least five of the thoroughbreds that are rapidly coming to the top of their form for the opening of the racing season on B.C. tracks, will line up in the Victoria Day Stake, and this race should give local race fans an idea of what these campaigners are likely to do this year.

A number of thoroughbreds that once flashed speed at the big meets, but now are used as saddle horses, show jumpers or polo ponies will once again answer the bugle and go to the post in the Tuscan Memorial Stake, named after the famous old stallion. This race will see some of the local polo players taking part and will settle the dispute as to who has the fastest thoroughbred polo pony.

LADIES' RACE
A ladies' race calling for all lady jocks, thoroughbreds barred, which will enable the fair sex to show their ability as race riders. The event for gentlemen's saddle horses, thoroughbreds barred, will likely produce the largest field.

Perhaps the most entertaining of the afternoon's equestrian events will be the jumping competition, in which entrants will attempt to guide their mounts over seven jumps, placed as they would be on a hunting field. A time limit, in which to complete the course, will force competitors to move at a real hunting pace.

Members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club are to stage at least three spectacular performances between horse races, featuring such well-known riders as George Wellburn, Frank "Suicide" Baylis, and Reg and Bob Shanks. These acts will show during trick-riding, a seemingly death-defying horse and rider crash, broom jumping and racing.

First post will be at 2.15, and information may be obtained by telephoning Bob Shanks at G 5011.

Bolster Loop Lead, Yanks Challenged

In recent baseball seasons it has been customary to write about the way the New York Yankees were dominating the American League scene.

This year it is becoming established custom to write in the same fashion about Brooklyn's no-longer-daffy Dodgers who continued their merry march at the head of the National League race Sunday with a double victory, 7 to 2 and 4 to 3, over Chicago. Cubs to stretch their league lead to 6½ games, which is nothing to be sniffed at even at this early stage of the proceedings.

Kirby Higbe made happy the hearts of the Dodger faithful—the two games were played in Brooklyn — by tossing a four-hitter at the Cubs in the first game for his second win against two defeats although two of the hits were home run clouts by Lou Stringer and Bill Nicholson.

Fireman Hugh Casey did a rescue job in the afterpiece relieving rookie Les Webber in the ninth inning after Dom Dallesandro had walked. Up until then Webber, making his first major league start, had the game well in hand holding the Cubs to seven hits. A double play solved any difficulties facing Casey, Dixie Walker taking Phil Cavaretta's low liner with one away, and rifling the ball to Billy Herman at first for the game-ending double killing. Herman took over first base duties in the second inning after Dolph Camilli was struck on the ankle by a hot grounder off Cavaretta's bat.

At Boston the fans flocked out in droves—25,000 of them—to see Jim Thome hit a home-run for his fourth in a row. But instead Jim served up a home run ball to Bucky Walters, Cincinnati Reds hurler, and Bucky promptly blasted a terrific blow over 350-foot left field wall with a mate on base in the fourth inning to tie the score and turn the tide in the game which the Reds won 9 to 3. The second game was called, due to weather.

Carl Hubbell finally chalked up his first victory at New York, holding St. Louis Cardinals to eight hits as the Giants won the first game of the double bill 7 to 1. In the second the Cards came from behind in the late innings to score an 8 to 6 victory.

At Philadelphia the Phils and Pirates split a doubleheader. The Pirates won the opener 7 to 2 and the Phils took the second 5 to 4 in 11 innings.

In the American League the Yankees continued to lead the parade by virtue of splitting a doubleheader with the seventh-place St. Louis Browns. A home run by Chet Laabs proved to be the clincher in the first game which the Browns won 4 to 2. His drive accounted for three runs. Joe Gordon hit a homer for the Yanks in this fixture. The Yanks won the second game 3 to 2 but unusually enough none of their 10 hits were for extra bases. Joe Gordon got three of the bingles.

Cleveland Indians crowded the Yanks for top spot—the Indians are only half a game behind now —by taking a double bill from Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 1 and 9 to 3. Jim Bagby and Al Milnar were the winning Cleveland pitchers, each turning in a four-hit job while Milnar backed up his fine work on the slab by leading the Indians' attack in the second game with a double and triple.

Seattle Gets Lone Victory

For prodigality of effort and paucity of production, Seattle today held something which must approach—if it doesn't establish — a new Coast League record.

The Rainiers labored through 14 innings Sunday, accumulating 18 hits, and brought forth a three-run mouset.

Fortunately for them the three runs were good enough for a 3 to 1 victory over Los Angeles. As the Angels later returned the favor, also 3 to 1, in an abbreviated five-inning rejoinder, Seattle's long distance success turned out to be its only winning performance in a seven-game series which cost the Rainiers the league lead.

One of the previous games went 15-innings to no decision, and another lasted 11 innings with Los Angeles winning 1 to 0. Los Angeles won Saturday 7 to 4.

At San Francisco, Portland and the host Seals likewise split the Sunday doubleheaders, Portland winning the first, 6 to 4, and San Francisco the other, 7 to 6. Eddie Stutz, who pitched the first of San Francisco's two Saturday wins, 10 to 3 and 6 to 1, also got credit for their Sunday victory, although he hurled only the last inning and Portland scored twice in that frame.

ANOTHER SPLIT

Sacramento and Oakland chalked up a win apiece in another twin bill, the Solons coming from behind to claim the opener, 5 to 4, and the Oaks making up lost ground to take the 11-inning nightcap, 7 to 6.

Only San Diego managed a Sunday sweep. Mel Mazzera, one of the league's foremost game-busters, broke up a tight pitching duel between Wally Hebert and Fred Gay in the opener with an eighth-inning single that scored Jack Calvey and put the Padres ahead for keeps, 3 to 2. The shorter second game ended 6 to 3.

All Europe produced only 130,000,000 barrels of crude oil and substitutes for petroleum in 1941, or about as much as the United States produces in a month.

Victor Podolski Says

Spirit of Poland
Remains Unbroken

The spirit of the Polish people, says Hon. Victor Podolski, remains unbroken and although facing torture and death at the hands of a ruthless enemy they will never bow to his will. Mr. Podolski, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Poland to Canada, today addressed the Victoria Men's Canadian Club on "Why We Must Win" and later spoke to the Women's Canadian Club.

"There is not a single Pole in Poland but who is convinced of ultimate victory and freedom," said Mr. Podolski in an interview at the Empress Hotel.

"The Germans are furious because the Poles refuse to collaborate. They haven't found one person in the whole of Poland who would form a puppet government. There are no Quislings or Laval's in Poland."

"The Poles," he continued, "form the nucleus of resistance in Europe. They are in the key position on the eastern front to join the Russians and when the time comes they will take to arms."

"We are faced by two alternatives," said Mr. Podolski, discussing the position of the United Nations and the outcome of the struggle. "It is either world freedom or world slavery. If we win the peoples of the world will enjoy conditions as they are in Canada today; if we lose, they will suffer conditions as Poland suffers now."

CRUCIFIED PEOPLE

Outlining the plight of the Poles under the heel of the Nazi invader, Mr. Podolski spoke of the crucifixion of a brave people, who would consider no truce, no armistice, no peace, no matter what terrorism to which they were subjected by a ruthless enemy.

He told of the concentration camps, torture, studied methods of starvation, wholesale deportations, and mass executions.

In spite of all this the Poles could not be forced to collaborate. They refuse to acknowledge they are beaten. Whenever they can, they fight back. Although they face instant death before a firing squad, saboteurs are continually wrecking trains and munition plants. With fiendish delight the Nazis go to the lengths of starving the Poles. Material and moral persecution cannot break the will of the people, so they must be weakened and ruined physically.

The Poles are allowed to buy food at the stores only when the Germans have been served. Then there is very little left. The Polish ration has been reduced to the point of complete elimination of fats. The use of white flour is forbidden. Bread and other products containing white flour cannot be sold to them.

Up to six months ago there had been 100,000 executions in nine occupied countries, and of this number 82,000 were Poles. Polish executions since that time, Mr. Podolski states, must have increased by 50 per cent.

The Germans hold 250,000 Poles in concentration camps.

HUMAN GUINEA PIGS

Poison gas, he asserts, is tested on the aged and infirm and the abnormal.

Every pretext has been used to destroy the patriotic leaders, but the united faith of the Polish people persists.

Newspapers are banned, but there are 100 secretly published newspapers in circulation, which the Nazis are unable to suppress.

Stressing Poland's will to fight, Mr. Podolski said that after the fall of Poland, 92,000 Poles fought in the battle of France, many others fought in Norway at Narvik and in the Battle of Britain and Poland's air squadrons distinguished themselves in the blitz of London, when 10 per cent of the enemy aircraft brought down fell to the Polish airmen.

Since the Battle of Britain, he said, about 700 Polish airmen had been lost, but Poland fought on. "Even now," he said, "we have only two less air squadrons than Canada." "We have 150,000 men under arms; they have been heard from in the Near East, at Tobruk, on the Nile and in Syria."

"We have three divisions, formed from the men released by Russia, in Persia." Over 40,000 men, he said, were under arms in Great Britain today.

Mr. Podolski said the Polish people were deeply grateful for the assistance given by Canada, particularly mentioning the Canadian I.O.D.E., the Red Cross and the Canadian Friendship of Poland, in connection with the repatriation of Poles from Russia.

ENTERTAINED HERE

This evening Mr. Podolski will be the guest of Lieut. Governor W. C. Woodward at Government House. He will fly to Vancouver Wednesday to be entertained at the Vancouver Club and meet other ministers and plenipotentiaries. On Friday he will be in Seattle to address the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

Car, Bus Collide

Charles McConach and his wife, 126 Dallas road, received treatment for small head cuts, at the Jubilee Hospital Sunday, after their car had been in a collision with a B.C. Electric Railway bus at Broad and Johnson. The accident occurred at 1:55 in the afternoon.

The bus was being driven north on Broad by G. P. Merriam, 1466 Edgware Street, and the car was going east on Johnson when the collision occurred.

Sgt. Roy Woolsey and Constable Bill Andrews attended. The front of the car was badly smashed. Damage to the bus was slight.

Ask Quick Trial

John F. Hunter and James Slater, in police court today, charged with stealing from the house of W. Lamb, 118 Howe Street, on May 8, asked for immediate trial. They were brought from Vancouver Thursday to stand trial and had asked for a preliminary hearing when they appeared in court Friday.

Hunter today pleaded guilty. Slater pleaded not guilty. The case was remanded to Wednesday at the request of C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor.

Maitland Sees
Bookmaking Curb

Hon. R. L. Maitland, Attorney General and Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Mines, Trade and Industry, returned to their offices in the Parliament Buildings today after business visits to Ottawa and other eastern centres.

The Attorney-General said he is hopeful the Ottawa government will pass legislation to curb bookmaking. The matter of monetary exchange is involved and it is a problem in which Ottawa is keenly interested, he said.

One of the chief purposes of Mr. Maitland's trip to Ottawa was to discuss with the Dominion Government the bookmaking problem, particularly as it affects Vancouver, where he estimates $30,000 is wagered daily, chiefly on United States races.

Mr. Maitland said "several parties" have shown interest in purchase of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

He said, however, no definite commitments have been made and none will be made until Premier Hart returns from Ottawa. Mr. Maitland, one of the P.G.E. directors said that the idea behind the interest shown in the P.G.E. is the feeling that the Alaska Highway will not be sufficient to handle the increasing traffic flowing to the northern area.

Mr. Anscomb went east largely to press British Columbia's offer of Peace River oil and natural gas resources to the Dominion Government for the war's duration.

He could not be reached this morning for comment, but it is expected Premier Hart, due in Ottawa tomorrow, will take up the discussions.

Lumsden to Direct
Tire Rationing

The staff of the Victoria sub-regional office of the War-time Prices and Trade Board has been strengthened by the addition of three officers.

A. T. Lumsden will serve as an investigator and will also be in charge of tire rationing and its enforcement. Mr. Lumsden has been a resident of Victoria for many years, in the tire sales and repair business, and as sales manager of passenger cars for Begg Motors.

Samuel M. Armstrong, who joins the staff as an investigator and for general duties, was for many years at Banff, Alberta, as manager of the David White department store. Since he moved to Victoria he operated a successful cabin tourist camp. He sold this business recently. He is prominent in community work and a well-known Rotarian.

The third new member of the staff is Charles Booth, who will serve as investigator. He was auditor-in-the-service of the Saskatchewan government and later served the Regina Chevrolet as accountant and office manager. His next move was to Winnipeg, where he was accountant and secretary of Western Canada Motors.

Mr. Booth moved to Victoria four years ago and joined Cabell Motors. He also operated his own grocery business, so he has had auditing and retail trade experience.

The new staff members will report to T. H. Johnson, the local representative, at 408 Union Building.

1 Hour in Water

Henry James, an Indian, thrashed around in shallow water for an hour, Saturday night, after he fell off the east end of the Johnson Street Bridge.

Robert E. Ford, bride operator, reported to police at 10:15 that he had seen a man go overboard. Constables Arthur Rudge and Tom Banister attended and were unable to find the Indian. They were later joined by Sgt. Harry Mercer and Constable Ray Maitland, who found James in shallow water on the north side of the bridge at the east end at 11:15.

Sgt. Mercer waded in and pulled him ashore. James was stiff and cramped with cold but had managed to stay afloat although he could not manoeuvre to shore.

On Radio Tonight

Gnr. E. W. Force who is in England with an Anti-aircraft battery will be heard over CBC tonight at 11:15 in a troop broadcast.

Force, a native son of Victoria, is the son of J. W. Force, 1923 Fernwood Road. He has been overseas 15 months.

BLOCKS HOUSING

War-time Housing Ltd. arrangements with the city were still hung up on the question of an agreement today, F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, reported following a visit to Vancouver during which he discussed terms with solicitors there.

In an effort to standardize work across the country, the company has sought to use one type of form. That form is not suitable to the city and does not conform to agreement reached between War-time Housing Ltd. and the council covering possible structures here.

When it was last forwarded to Victoria, it met opposition from the city solicitor who redrafted a form and sent it east. Head offices did not approve of the Victoria redraft. Now solicitors are attempting to reach common ground on the contract papers whereby the city would provide property to the company for 100 war workers' homes in the James Bay area.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of an advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within 30 days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement, count the words in the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute rule, but a guide to the advertiser, depending on the length of the individual words.

Advertisers who desire to have their advertisements placed in the Times Office and forwarded to their private addresses, a charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office as well as the carrier. If possible, please send a new address before 7 p.m., and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

BOX REPLY AVAILABLE

Dorothy Dix: Jealous Dad Won't Allow Girl to Have Companions

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 14 and having trouble with my father. He does not want me to have any friends of either sex; and when boys and girls come to our house he gets mad and insults them. Every time I go out he always raises a fuss. I want to be popular, just as every girl does, but I get no co-operation from him. I want to bring my friends, boys as well as girls, into our home and introduce them to my father, but what can I do when he acts the way he does?

I love my father dearly and do not wish to disobey him, but don't you think he is a little unfair to want me to stay at home all the time and have no companionship or outside activities.

ANSWER: What's the matter with your father is jealousy. He can't bear to think that his baby girl has grown up and that she is no longer content to stay at home with him of evenings and play tidily-winks, and have him tell her bedtime stories. It turns him up for her to be interested in any male except himself. So when he sees the house cluttered up with boys he feels like committing mayhem upon them. Wholesale murder being undesirable under our laws, he does his best to rid himself of his rivals by making himself as unpleasant to them as he can and giving them such a frosty welcome when they come to his house that they drive them away. Of course, father never admits that he is green-eyed. He all but his conduct to himself by saying that he is trying to protect Mamie and to keep her from wasting her time on a lot of little pipsqueaks when she should be getting an education, and that when she is old enough to have some sense, say about 25 or 30, he won't object to her having a few gentlemen callers. But that now he is not going to be kept awake at night by a lot of brats running in and out of the house and playing the radio and dancing until 11 or 12 o'clock at night when they should be home in bed. And why Mamie's mother sides with her, instead of backing him up in this date foolishness, he doesn't know.

DEAR MISS DIX: A few weeks ago I discovered that my husband, who is 40 years old and the father of our several children, has been having an affair with a 17-year-old school girl. When confronted with the information he admitted it, but after a meeting of the three of us they agreed not to have anything more to do with each other until she is 18.

Then, if they both feel the same way, he will give me and the children up and go away with her. I have the most urgent desire to go to her family and enlighten them as to their daughter's behavior. I long to do anything to hurt her. I have been so cruelly wounded that I feel that I cannot bear for her to get by unscathed. But I do not know what is the right thing to do. My sleepless nights, my endless thoughts about how I have been cheated and the terrible uncertainty of the future have upset me physically and mentally. Can you say any word to me that will stabilize me?

ANSWER: I certainly think that the girl's family should be told of her conduct and, at least, given an opportunity of trying to save her from her folly. After all, a girl of 17 is still enough of a child to be guided by impulse instead of reason, and incapable of judging of the far-reaching consequences of her acts.

No doubt the silly little creature thinks it very romantic to have a liaison with a married man, and is quite proud of having captured the fancy of a man old enough to be her father and having taken him away from his wife and children. Also, she feels very adventurous and brave and daring in meeting him around in holes and corners and knowing she would be disgraced if her assignments were discovered. She gets quite a kick out of looking, as she thinks, in the bright face of danger. And she misses all of the sordidness and the lowliness of the affair, and the cruelty of breaking up a sister woman's home and half-orphaning helpless children.

Perhaps the girl's family might be able to make her see her affair with your husband in its true light, and as it looks to the world. Perhaps they might be able to send her off somewhere and give change and a new environment a chance to do their perfect work, and afford her an opportunity to meet some young chap who in about five minutes would cure her of her infatuation for her elderly lover.

But you need not think of revenging yourself upon the girl. Life will do that. No sin goes unpunished. Nothing that you could do to her would hurt her as badly as the wrong she has done herself. Even if she gives your husband up, she has smeared her character for life, and if she marries him it will be worse still. She will be tied to an old man of whom she will soon grow tired and who will bore her to extinction.

Egyptians Had Odd-shaped 'Tear Jars'

When we wish to judge the importance of some substance, it may be well to ask ourselves the question, "What would we do without it?"

Just how would we get along without glass? What kind of window panes would we use? What would we do for bottles? What for jars?

To cover our windows, we might employ oiled paper, as did some of the pioneer settlers on our continent. A person may see through oiled paper, though not so well as through glass. The oiled paper would bring a special fire danger and the wind might batter it out of place.

We could try isinglass, but it would be hard to get enough of that from the fish which provide it. True isinglass is composed of the air bladders of certain fish, such as the sturgeon, cod and carp. It is whitish, and is not easy to look through.

Mica (often called "isinglass") is a mineral which would do better for windows. Some kinds of mica are yellow, green, black, or red, but much of it has no color and can be called "transparent." The transparent kind is widely employed for lanterns and heating stoves of an old-fashioned type.

Yet there would be troubles about mica. We do not have enough of a supply of it to cover the world's windows. Also it would be hard to find large sheets of mica to cover good-sized windows.

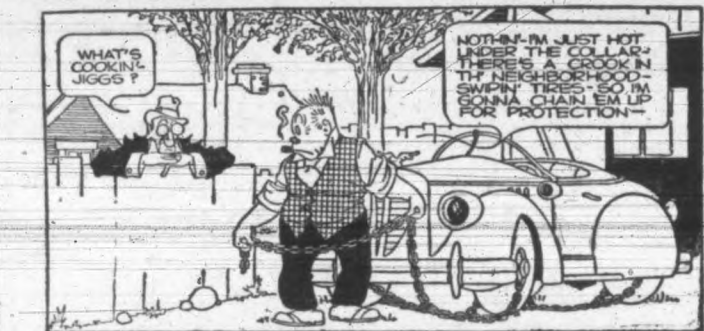

As to bottles, we might use paper. Some excellent paper milk "bottles" are on the market today, and some persons think they will in time take the place of glass milk bottles. Cardboard jars also have come into use, and they do their work well.

Yet some persons want very much to see what is inside a container. Those persons probably will keep the jar and bottle market alive for a long time to come. Happily there is little need to worry about a lasting shortage in glass. War is cutting down almost every peaceful industry, but war will not last forever. The big reason why the world need not worry about losing its glass is the matter of cheapness. Glass is made chiefly from sand, and sand is cheap. When the sand is heated and melted, portions of lime and soda are added. Some kinds of glass have small amounts of other substances in them.

The ancient Egyptians had glass, but it seems they did not use it to cover windows. They made bottles and jars, also glass figures. Such objects as glass fish and a glass hippopotamus have been saved from ancient Egyptian times. Odd jars, believed to have been employed to save tears, have been found in Egyptian tombs.

Nearly half of all Japanese soldiers have weak eyes and need glasses; trachoma, commonly called granular eyelids, is prevalent among them.

Exposure to sunlight deteriorates natural rubber rapidly.

O-o-o-h goody! My Mommie's going to let me have a party! I begged and begged for one, until finally she said I could have lots of parties if she could just get a good cook. Then she went to the phone and called up the TIMES and said she wanted to put in a Help Wanted Ad where all the good cooks in the world could see it. So it wasn't long at all before the best cook answered it—boy, she can make the most wonderful chocolate pudding! And Mommie gave me a great big hug and a kiss because she said I made her do something she ought to have done a long time ago.

Award Scholarship To Oak Bay Pupil

Hamish Nicol, son of Mrs. A. S. Nicol, 2294 Windsor Road, has been awarded the governor's scholarship at Upper Canada College, Toronto, open to students from any part of the Dominion. Young Nicol, 13, is a pupil at St. Michael's School. In a letter to Kyrle C. Symons, headmaster, Mr. MacDermott, of Upper Canada College, praised the excellent standard of the young student's work.

A. S. Nicol, his father, is a war prisoner at Hongkong. Empire Ministry will meet Tuesday evening at 8 in the Business Women's Clubrooms in the Union Building. A special program and refreshments will be provided.

Letters to Editor

Correspondents are reminded to use one side of the paper only to write legibly, and to keep their communications within a reasonable length. A short letter, with a point, convincingly emphasized, has a better chance of publication than our wretched platitudes.

SOME CHEERS NEEDED

I have noticed, especially during this week of the Red Cross drive, when different regiments have been parading through the streets, the absolute indifference of the people who look on. Not a cheer or a clap is given these men. Surely to goodness, when we know that these men are going overseas to save us from a ruthless enemy, the least we can do is to give them a good hand-clap. After all, it does not cost us anything. I have heard it said that the Americans go in for too much flag-waving. I think that if we went in for a little bit more of it it would do us no harm.

I wish to supplement the article of C. D. Atkinson appearing in your columns of the 13th instant. I cannot avoid supporting such a claim made against the manner of bonuses referred to by the writer.

In such matters I am certainly interested. I served 13 years as inspector of mines, also inspector in sanitary matters, and I am retired with the small allowance of $34.28.

Certainly, if the bonus mentioned is for the purpose of aid in the question of increased cost of living, then it appears to me that between the two forms of those termed the active wage earner and that of the superannuated civil servant, the claim to consideration of the super-annuated ought to be equally as valid as that of the civil servant employed.

TOO OLD AT 40?

I was extremely interested in your editorial "Teacher Shortage."

I am a fully trained certified teacher with 20 years' varied and excellent experience. Yet I am told by an official of the Board of Education in Victoria that as I am 43 I could not be employed in the city schools.

The reason seems to be that older teachers sometimes fall ill and make demands on the pension fund. We who are "too old at 40" would willingly sign a paper stating that we were merely employed for the duration of the war and make no demands except to serve the children in time of need.

I know that I am an outstandingly successful teacher and have documents with me from England to prove it, but I am set aside for "untrained personnel," presumably younger.

THE "OPEN MIND"

Due to the fact that I am a shut-in, I have a number of friends who drop in at regular intervals for a chat; this has been the case for the past 10 years. Due to a recent short discussion, one of these friends, regarding the advisability of maintaining an "open mind," I reached the conclusion that this theory required a further analysis. On meditation I finally realized the fact that the majority of my friends were not agreed on this point.

This is not to be wondered at in view of the fact that people are frequently exhorted to keep an open mind on all subjects and under all circumstances, as though it were a virtue to suspend judgment. In other words, one must never definitely state that a thing is not so. The "open mind" attitude is expressed by the parent who called his son to him and said: The time has come, my boy, when I must tell you that you have been deceived about the transporting abilities of the stork. Suspicion regarding this matter may have already developed in your mind, but I would like you to keep an open mind, in case there is a stork with the stated ability.

I just recently read an article by Prof. Albert G. Keller of Yale University in which he stated: "I am not amongst those who believe that the open mind is desirable at all times. Nobody worth consideration advocates the wide open mind, hospitable indiscriminately to all the whimsies there are. The close mind is not only not slackly ajar, but it has locks and bars against the trickery of the plausible. It is not to be hoodwinked by any new species of bugaboo, because it has learned to recognize the genus 'phantasm.' It has become expert in the detection of what lies under verbal camouflage."

The close mind has a strong aversion to being fooled more than once. Some years ago I reasoned that average minds were closed to facts of simple propositions, but open to complicated problems of which they had very little knowledge. Therefore, logic compelled me to admit that a complete understanding of facts is the only means of eliminating myths and superstition.

Red Cross Campaign

Expect to Exceed Quota This Week

With two-thirds of the quota collected during the first week of the campaign, the Victoria district organization today swung into the second week of its Canadian Red Cross drive, confident the objective would be exceeded by Saturday.

Over $67,188 had been received by Saturday night. The area is scheduled to raise $97,000. Indications to date point to achievement of that sum in the next few days.

The residential canvass section, under the leadership of Miss Sara Spencer and Mrs. G. Hall, has already exceeded $16,000 quota, with receipts of $17,613 up to Saturday night. They follow John Holroyde's hotel division over the top.

G. H. Walton and Eric Wainwright, in charge of the industrial canvass, saw their $7,000 in sight today with $6,016 collected up to Saturday.

The business division, under Waldo Skillings and W. J. Clarke forged towards its $6,500 figure with $4,932 reported, as work started this morning.

The special names division, headed by R. W. Hibberson and F. E. Winslow, was well on the way to its $56,000 with a collection of $33,243 during the first week.

"Hitler would just love to see how smart you look!"

"Yes, you're smart... or are you? I thought I was smart too, back in the 20's. Then the depression came and taught me a lesson!"

"We'd be a lot smarter if we put less of our money into our own outfits and more of it into the outfits of the boys who are defending us. How? By pledging ourselves to do without so that they may have plenty to do with!"

"You want them to win, don't you? Well then, buy War Savings Stamps every week... That's how you can help them. Besides, by saving, you'll help keep prices down and have something for a rainy day. Let's be really smart!"

32nd Nazi Plane Falls to Finucane

LONDON (CP) — Squadron Leader Paddy Finucane and Keith Truscott had a week-end windfall of £1,000 ($4,500)—but it won't do them any good.

John Wren, Melbourne sportsman, asked the two fliers to share the gift as a token "of personal appreciation and gratitude for amazing gallantry" against the German air force.

But regulations prohibit acceptance of money for services in performance of duty.

That didn't bother Finucane's flying. He went out Sunday and bagged his 32nd German plane.

Wren now intends to give the money to the pilots' mothers.
